IRAQ BEGINS NEW TRIAL

Defendants Said Accused Of Spying For U.S. CIA

. . . BAGHDAD SAYS ISRAEL PREPARING REPRISAL

By The Associated Press

Iraq's revolutionary court was reported to have started a new mass spy trial in Baghdad Tuesday night with the defendants accused of spying for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

The new trial, reported by the Egyptian Middle East News Agency, was said to have started as Iraq accused Israel of preparing a large-scale reprisal raid to avenge the hanging of nine Jews Monday in Baghdad.

Iraqi Information Minister Abdullah Salloum Samerrai said Israeli troops were building up along the Jordan River in preparation for an attack on Iraqi troops in Arab Jordan.

Perhaps 13 Jews

London sources had reported that the Iraqi government intended to put 35 more prisoners — 13 of them Jews — on trial before a revolutionary court on charges of spying and sabotage.

The public hanging of nine Jews and five others Monday, following a similar spy trial, touched off furious outbursts in Israel and condemnation in many world capitals.

'Internal Affair'

"This is a purely internal affair with no room for intervention by any other country," the Iraqi information minister said.

Travelers returning to Beirut, Lebanon, from Baghdad said Iraqi mobs howled for more executions while the bodies of the 11 men hanged there Monday dangled from hastily erected gallows.

The travelers spoke of Baghdad as a city gripped by bloodlust. The demonstration climaxed weeks of government-inspired terror to discourage opponents of the Baath Party regime.

Iraq already has been put in a state of military readiness for any Israeli repraisal.

The Iraqi government has about 20,000 troops stationed in neighboring Jordan. Their presence has been seen in some quarters as a tempting opportunity for Israeli reprisal.

The U.S. State Department disclosed Tuesday that it had urged Israel not to retaliate. Spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said: "The position every American administration has taken regarding the cycle of provocations and reprisals has been a consistent one. It should be avoided."

In London, students climbed to the roof of the Iraqi Embassy and raised the Israeli flag to the cheers of thousands staging a torchlight protest in front of the building. One student was knifed in a struggle with guards on the roof. He was rushed to a hospital.

In New York, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant plunged into a strategy session with his special peace envoy Gunnar V. Jarring after calling for moral pressure by the Big Four world powers to achieve a Middle East settlement.

Thant had appealed without success to Baghdad to spare the nine Jews.

He told a news conference the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France must be actively involved in the peace efforts, either singly or collectively."

Pope Asked Mercy

The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano disclosed that Pope Paul VI, who has made it clear in the past that he is opposed to the death penalty, also had appealed for clemency through the apostolic delegate in Baghdad.

The British government also decried the executions and drew a protest from the Iraqi government.

BATTLES SHARP . . .

Reds Send In Troops

Saigon (AP) — The enemy has sent thousands of troops from sanctuaries in Laos and Cambodia into border areas north of Saigon and sharp battles have erupted, U.S. officers said Tuesday.

The latest fighting broke out Tuesday morning when 400 North Vietnamese attacked night bivouac positions of a government paratroop battalion 54 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

With the aid of U.S. helicopter gunships, the North Vietnamese were beaten back and paratroopers sweeping the battlefield found 23 enemy bodies, a spokesman reported. Two South Vietnamese were killed and several wounded.

320 Red Killed

The biggest engagement, however, came Saturday and Sunday in the central highlands 18 miles from the Laotian border, where South Vietnamese rangers with U.S. support reported killing 320 North Vietnamese.

The rangers swept the area 25 miles northwest of Pleiku Tuesday as U.S. B52 bombers dropped 500 tons of bombs on suspected enemy troop concentrations. A spokesman said U.S. fighter-bombers and artillery accounted for 200 enemy dead. He added that 51 rangers were wounded.

The purpose of the reported enemy troop movements was not clear. U.S. intelligence sources have been warning that the enemy may try an offensive soon north of Saigon in an effort to sway the peace talks in Paris.

Hard Fighting Ahead

More than 8,000 U.S. servicemen have been killed in battle since the United States and North Vietnamese first met in Paris to try to get peace talks started. Now that the peace talks have begun, the U.S. Command looks for more hard fighting ahead.

There have been no major battles involving U.S. forces recently, but the kind of operations emphasized slowly build up the number of Americans killed or wounded.

These are cordon operations, designed to trap enemy troops and force them to surrender or die.

The latest announced was in a patch of marshland 19 miles southwest of Saigon, where soldiers of the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade and the U.S. 9th Division encountered a Viet Cong force Monday.

GIs Swarm In

At least 10 enemy soldiers were killed in the initial burst of fighting that brought nearly 1,000 American troops swarming in by helicopter and boat to seal a cordon around the Viet Cong base.

As the U.S. soldiers strengthened the ring around the guerrillas Tuesday, air strikes were followed by psychological warfare broadcasts from low-flying planes telling the enemy to surrender or die.

GOPs Outnumber Democrats At NU

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by a student in the University of Nebraska's School of Journalism depth reporting class.)

By DIANNE LOENNIG

Republicans outnumber Democrats in the University of Nebraska faculty, according to a survey of the political registration of the teaching faculty on the Lincoln campuses and the College of Medicine in Omaha.

The political division, according to registration records in Lancaster and Douglas Counties, is: Republicans 623, Democrats 479, independents 52, American Party 2, New Party 1 and not registered 336.

Of those registered, 54% are Republicans, 41% Democrats, 0.5% in other parties and 4.5% independents. This compares to a statewide registration as of November, 1968, of 51.7% Republican, 45.3 Democratic, 0.1 in other parties and 2.9 independent.

The figures apparently disprove the widely held notion that the university is a Democratic stronghold.

The faculty of the College of Medicine is the most heavily Republican with 238 Republicans, 52 Democrats, 20 independents and 92 not registered.

The faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences is the most heavily Democratic with 204 Democrats, 98 Republicans, one registered in the New Party, 10 independents and 108 not registered.

In addition to Arts and Sciences, the colleges of Business Administration, Pharmacy and Teachers College show a plurality of Democratic registrations.

Party registration varies little with academic rank. Republicans outnumber Democrats in all ranks.

But more than two-thirds of those listed as not registered are either of the two lower academic ranks, instructor and assistant professor. This group is generally young and many are new to the university. Therefore, part of those listed as not registered may be registered in other cities or may be unable to meet registration requirements.

Only the teaching faculty was involved in the survey. Thus those with emeritus ranking, those in extension work and in strictly administrative positions are not included.

Breakdown of party affiliation by colleges:

Agriculture and Home Economics: Republicans 127, Democrats 97, Independents 10, American 1, Not Registered 50.

Arts and Sciences: Republicans 98, Democrats 204, Independents 10, New Party 1, Not Registered 108.

College of Business Administration: Republicans 17, Democrats 22, Independents 2, Not Registered 12.

College of Dentistry: Republicans 32, Democrats 13, Not Registered 21

College of Engineering and Architecture: Republicans 48, Democrats 24, Independents 3, Not Registered 23.

College of Medicine: Republicans 238, Democrats 52, Independents 20, Not Registered 92.

College of Pharmacy: Republicans 3, Democrats 4, Independents 2, Not Registered 2.

Teachers College: Republicans 30, Democrats 52, Independents 4, American 1, Not Registered 22.

THERE'S TOO MUCH SNOW FOR TRAIN

Crewmen shovel lots of snow in an effort to free a Milwaukee Road passenger train stuck near Ortonville, Minn. Two passengers and three crewmen were stranded for 16 hours before a rotary plow from Aberdeen, S.D., reached the train. The Minneapolis-Aberdeen train left most of its passengers at Montevideo, Minn., and was trapped on the way back to Aberdeen.

Expanded Medicaid Plan Advanced By Committee

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Public Health and Welfare Committee Tuesday dispatched to the floor of the Legislature for debate a bill which would greatly expand medicaid costs by extending eligibility to low-income persons who are not welfare recipients.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, sponsor of LB19, said the measure could increase the program's costs by at least $20 million a biennium.

On the basis of the present funding formula, state costs would expand by $5 million or more.

Carpenter said the program now costs $40 million a biennium and is funded 56% with federal dollars, 24% by the state and 20% by counties.

No Way

There is no way of determining how many Nebraskans would be added to the medicaid rolls by LB19, Carpenter said, and thus no way of accurately determining the increased costs.

They could even double, he told the committee.

The bill won 5-0 approval.

LB19 would extend medicaid assistance to single persons whose net annual income is $1,600 or less; to a family of two whose income does not exceed $2,200 a year, and to larger families whose income does not exceed $2,200 plus $400 for each dependent over the number of two.

Medicaid is now confined to recipients of aid to dependent children, the aged, blind and disabled.

Cost of medical care has skyrocketed to the point where people must be concerned "not only with getting well, but how to pay for it," Carpenter said.

'Human Misery'

Costs of assistance to low-income persons who need medical care cannot override the combined difficulties of "human misery and inability to pay," he said.

In many cases, medical costs lead to bankruptcy and financial ruin, Carpenter noted.

Sen. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson, committee chairman, pointed to the financial strain which counties would face with an expanded program. Carpenter said the answer must be more state financial aid for counties, as well as for cities.

There was no testimony either for or against the bill.

Held for further consideration was LB2, Carpenter's bill to reduce the penalty for first offense possession of marijuana.

First offense users would face a misdemeanor charge, rather than a felony charge, but first offense "pushers" would continue to face a felony conviction.

In many cases, courts will not now enforce the statute against first offense users because the penalty is too severe, Carpenter said.

Sarpy County Attorney Dixon Adams agreed, noting that LB2 would "give me a little more latitude" in bringing charges to court.

Nebraska may face a problem with pushers in the near future, he said, because "the word is getting around that it's here. We're getting more popular."

A variety of marijuana grows wild throughout most portions of the state. Adams said the state may soon need to consider an eradication program.

Skiers Marooned In California Storm

Bishop, Calif. (AP) — Twelve days ago hundreds of Southern Californians headed, as they do each winter weekend, for resorts on the steep east slope of the High Sierra for fun and games in the snow.

A lot are still there, but not by choice. And skiing they are not.

A fantastic 20 feet of snow, described as the heaviest in 37 years, has given the sports buffs too much of a good thing. The ski tows and sled runs are idle and, due to huge drifts that have blocked major highways for miles, many visitors are snowbound.

Autos are buried out of sight in some areas.

Most Lavish

At Mammoth Mountain, biggest and most lavish of the resorts at the 8,000-foot level some 250 miles north of Los Angeles, some guests got so fed up waiting for an end to a storm that caused widespread flood damage in other parts of California that they skiied to a highway to hitch rides out.

Guests were reported snug — but bored — at many motels and lodges. At Tamarack Lodge, for instance, 60 visitors have been waiting since the storm hit Jan. 18.

Tamarack ran out of milk over the weekend. "One couple had a baby up here. We fed her molasses and water because we heard it was nourishing," the owner said.

Try To Reach

At the Arlberg Chalet, about three miles from Tamarack, the owner said Marines were going to try to reach Tamarack with milk and other supplies. She said there had been no mail or grocery deliveries since last Friday.

Some guests at Mammoth Mountain Inn left Monday night when emergency vehicles guided a caravan of 30 or 40 cars down the slope to U.S. 395. Others remained because their cars are buried under about 12 feet of snow.

A helicopter began ferrying people to Bishop on Tuesday. But they had to leave their cars behind.

What are the snowbound skiers doing?

"We put in a good supply of liquor and food before the snow got real bad," said Mrs. Bud Stoudenmire, of Tamarack. "Everyone got to know each other. We played games. Some people read."

She said many guests were young couples, and the average age was 30.

Big Indian Watershed District Honored

Big Indian Watershed Conservancy District of Gage and Jefferson Counties was presented the 1969 Nebraska Watershed of the Year Award Tuesday evening by The Sunday Journal and Star during the 10th annual Watershed Workshop banquet.

Officers of Big Indian received a permanent recognition plaque recognizing the developments of the 131,000-acre watershed that extends from southeast of Wymore south to Odell almost to the Kansas line and west into Jefferson County. The watershed includes 640 farms and residents from Wymore, Diller, Odell, Harbine and Ellis communities.

The Sunday Journal and Star presented a $150 cash award to Big Indian Watershed officials, so that one or more of the members might attend the National Watershed Congress June 8 at Louisville, Ky., where Big Indian Watershed will be entered in national competition.

Big Indian Watershed is the eighth annual state award winner honored by The Sunday Journal and Star in a program to recognize the contributions made to watershed development and to encourage an annual entry from Nebraska in national watershed competition.

New York Times News Summary

United States Urges Israel Not To Retaliate

(C) New York Times News Service

Washington — The United States urged Israel not to retaliate against Iraq's execution of nine Jews charged with spying. Secretary of State William P. Rogers called the executions "repugnant." (More on Page 1.)

Panama Rebels In Mountains

San Jose — Deep in the thickly forested mountains of western Panama a band of rebels is keeping alive a spark of physical resistance to Panama's military regime. The partisans of the overthrown President Arnulfo Arias have gained a foothold that is causing economic and diplomatic repercussions.

Stress On Swifter Justice

Washington —Anticrime measures of the Nixon administration will stress swifter justice for the accused. Sen. Everett Dirksen indicated that the administration will ask for 67 new federal judges to eliminate the long wait between arrest and trial. (More on Page 2.)

Thant Urges Big 4 Pressure

United Nations, N.Y. — "Moral pressure" from the Big Four powers was called for by Secretary General Thant as a means to secure peace in the Middle East. More on Page 1.)

Iraq Gives Spies Month

Beirut, Lebanon — The government of Iraq gave spies a month to turn themselves in and confess with the assurance of full pardons. They were warned, though, that if they did not surrender and were caught, they would face hanging.

Viet Cong Rebuff Nixon

Paris —Viet Cong representatives at the talks on Vietnam rejected President Nixon's news conference remarks on United States proposals for mutual troop withdrawal and prisoner exchange instead of an early cease-fire. (Another story on Page 2.)

Nixon Visits House

Washington — President Nixon climbed Capitol Hill for a lunchtime round of pumping hands, patting arms and exchanging small talk with members of the House. (More on Page 2.)

Recall On Nixon's Mind

Washington — Recall of the Johnson administration's award of Pacific air routes was apparently on President Nixon's mind even before he was approached by congressmen asking for a review on foreign policy grounds. The Johnson decision drew grumblings from the airline industry that politics was involved.

Filibuster Survives

Washington — The Senate's Rule 22, which makes the filibuster possible by requiring more than a majority vote to cut off debate, survived another attack by moderates and liberals. But Democratic leader Mike Mansfield intends to maintain pressure for a compromise and will not yet send the bill to its usual graveyard in committee.

School Plan Published

New York — The city's board of education made public its final plan for school decentralization that will be submitted to the state legislature.

U.S. Nuclear Blasts May Dredge Harbor

World News

Washington (AP) — The Nixon administration gave the go ahead Tuesday for determining whether a harbor can be dug in Australia with five nuclear shots.

It also showed signs of retaining the 10% income surtax at least through the middle of next year, and took a stance for stepping up the war on crime and for restoring presidential power to reshuffle and reorganize federal agencies.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., came out of a meeting of Senate and House GOP leaders and the President saying:

"It would appear if we are going to maintain a budget surplus that the surtax certainly will have to be maintained for the time being."

'Assumption'

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press secretary, told reporters later, "I think Dirksen was making it clear he was only making an assumption from the conversation this morning."

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, told reporters that the United States will furnish the nuclear explosives and probably help in financing a $10-million effort to create a port at Cape Keraudren which ocean-going vessels can use to take on ore from the interior.

At the same time, the project will provide a test for the feasibility of using nuclear power to excavate a new sea level canal across Central America, Seaborg said.

A row of five nuclear explosives will be touched off 200 feet below the surface of the sea in the nuclear dredging operation in Australia.

Seaborg disclosed, too, that President Nixon has asked him to stay on as chairman of the AEC for an indefinite time. He has agreed. His present term on the commission ends June 30, 1970.

In other developments:

—Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel announced on Nixon's behalf that Russell E. Train of Washington, president of the Conservation Foundation, has been appointed undersecretary.

Train is 48, a specialist in tax law, a one-time head of the Treasury's legal advisory staff, and was a judge of the U.S. Tax Court before he went to the foundation in 1965.

Hickel, whose ideas on conservation drew some fire in the Senate and delayed his confirmation for the Cabinet, lauded Train highly and predicted he will do an excellent job.

—Also for Nixon, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced the nomination of former Rep. George B. Hansen of Idaho as his deputy undersecretary for congressional relations. Hansen lost a try for the Senate in last year's election, as he did six years earlier.

After conferring with Republican leaders at the White House, Nixon went to Capitol Hill for a social visit with members of the House, where 22 years ago he launched the political career that took him to the top.

On House Floor

For the first time since 1946 and the days of Harry S. Truman, a president went onto the House floor. Nixon got a rousing, lengthy, bipartisan round of applause when he walked in a bit after noon.

He stood for an hour in the well of the chamber pumping hands of congressmen of all political persuasions and even those of clerks and page boys.

Sen. Everett Dirksen told reporters afterward that:

—Legislation aimed at crime will get high priority and may reach Congress later this week. There will be special emphasis on the District of Columbia as an example of cities with a crime problem, and on providing more judges to speed up trials of cases now piling up on court calendars.

—Also within the next few days, the President formally will request restoration of the power his four immediate predecessors had to reshuffle federal agencies and departments. This authority died at the end of 1968 after a House bill to extend it died in the Senate.

JOHNSON . . . favors two-China policy.

Undersecretary-To-Be Favors Chinese Entry

Washington (AP) — U. Alexis Johnson, who has been named to the No. 3 spot in the State Department, said Tuesday he would favor admission of Red China to the United Nations if that nation did not insist on expulsion of Nationalist China.

Johnson took the position in appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a hearing on his nomination.

He said the question of U.S.-Red China contacts must await an indication that mainland China would "live and let live as far as its neighbors and the rest of the world are concerned."

Under questioning by members, Johnson said he saw no conflict in those views and nothing in present U.S. policy in opposition to a "two-China" representation in the United Nations.

He said his views on the Red China issue were his own.

Johnson, 60, is a career diplomat who has been named by President Nixon as undersecretary of state for political affairs.

Nixon said Monday his administration would continue to oppose admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Hanoi Rejects Separate Talk

Paris (UPI) — North Vietnam rejected Tuesday a South Vietnamese suggestion that the two warring governments might eventually open secret talks on peace separate from the Paris negotiations.

A Hanoi spokesman said that if Saigon has any proposals to make to end the conflict, they should be made in sessions of the four-party peace conference.

The rejection of the informal suggestion made Monday by South Vietnam Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky came as American and South Vietnamese negotiators met to discuss strategy for the second meeting of the conference Thursday.

The U.S. delegation chief, Henry Cabot Lodge, met separately with Saigon delegation chief Pham Dang Lam and Bun Charoenchai, ambassador of Thailand, one of the nations fighting on the allied side in Vietnam.

South Vietnamese officials expressed satisfaction with President Nixon's first official remarks on Vietnam, made Monday in a press conference.

'Laser Bomb' Possible

Washington (AP) — Atomic Energy Commission scientists said Tuesday a new kind of hydrogen bomb — a "laser bomb" — is a theoretical possibility, but a highly remote one.

A laser bomb would be an H-bomb in which the intense heat of a laser beam — perhaps the most powerful and concentrated form of light in the universe — would be used to trigger the hydrogen explosives, instead of the A-bomb trigger now required.

The AEC scientists also said it's theoretically possible to use a laser system to touch off hydrogen explosives designed for peaceful uses — such as carving out canals and harbors. But here again, they say, the possibility is highly remote.

"The capabilities of present lasers are hundreds or thousands of times lower than that considered by the AEC to even begin to be a cause for any concern in weapons or peaceful uses nuclear explosive device applications," one scientist said.

Such capabilities, scientists indicated, would refer to such things as the temperature required to initiate the hydrogen-bomb "fusion" reaction and the ability to sustain that temperature long enough to produce an efficient trigger.

The questions were prompted by an article in the current issue of "Scientist and Citizen," a magazine published by the St. Louis-based Committee for Environmental Information.

The committee is a group of scientists and laymen "dedicated to providing scientific information relevant to social issues in the fields of nuclear energy and environmental contamination."

'Basement H-Bombs'

The article, "Basement H-Bombs," written by Associate Editor Sheldon Novick, says in part:

"Relatively cheap and widely available lasers might replace the fission trigger on an H-bomb, making it easier to build. That such a nightmare is barely possible has been known for years . . ."

Air Piracy Continues

Miami (AP) — Two U.S. airliners were hijacked to Cuba Tuesday with at least 148 persons aboard, including a man on his way to Miami to meet 13 members of his family released by the Fidel Castro government earlier the same day.

Two men who claimed to be fugitives from a California prison started the day's hijack parade when they used a gun and four sticks of dynamite to commandeer a National Airlines jet with 32 persons aboard as it flew over the Gulf of Mexico from New Orleans en route to Miami.

Hours later, an Eastern Airlines DC8 with a crew of eight reported it was changing course over south Florida and was headed for Havana. The Federal Aviation Administration in Miami said the plane, Eastern's Flight 121 from Atlanta to Miami, had at least 98 passengers aboard, possibly more.

The pirated National jet landed in Havana 53 minutes after the hijacking was reported. It remained in the Cuban capital for only a few hours before the plane and the passengers were freed for the return trip to Miami.

12 Miners Led Around Fire

Mt. Morris, Pa. (AP) — A dozen men battled heavy smoke deep in a burning coal mine Tuesday before their foreman located a rescue team and they were led around the fire to safety.

They were more fortunate than 78 miners who were killed three months ago when a mine at Mannington, W. Va., was ripped by fire and explosions.

The 12 were among men working in Hmphrey No. 7, owned by Consolidation Coal Co., when the roof of a passageway collapsed early Tuesday. The cave-in triggered an electrical fire insidethe mine's main entrance, just south of this village along the West Virginia-Pennsylvania line.

All but the 12-man crew, working a section three miles in from the entrance, were lifted to safety in bucket hoists and elevators soon after the fire was discovered.

There was no word from the remaining crew for several hours, until foreman Millard Brock telephoned the surface from within the mine to say his men were all right.

The miners erected a barricade near the fire and were in fresh air, he said later.

Brock, a veteran of 21 years in the mines, and a member of his crew struck out along the smoke-filled passageway and met one of three rescue teams searching for them.

Conservatives Said Seeking To Discredit Czech Martyr

Prague (AP) — There were growing signs Tuesday that conservative Communist forces, seeking to promote support for a showdown struggle with Czechoslovak liberal leaders, were trying to discredit the motives for Jan Palach's fire suicide.

Prague drifted into an uneasy calm after the sporadic clashes between students and police that followed the funeral of the 21-year-old student Saturday.

Sullen lunchtime crowds watched as municipal workers planted four-foot pine trees around the base of St. Wenceslas statue in the square where Palach set himself afire.

The move was seen as an attempt to forestall students from making the monument into a perpetual shrine to Palach.

Last week the base of the statue had been covered with posters and hundreds of flickering candles.

Liberal sources said pro-Soviet elements were blaming Palach's human-torch death on anti-socialist elements and Western provocateurs and contending he was forced to kill himself for the sake of propaganda against the Russian occupation.

Underground pamphlets of pro-Soviet origin suggest a group of leading Czechoslovak liberals was directly responsible.

LB82 'Could Ruin Fairs'

. . . Claim Fair Managers

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Nebraska fair officials from county and state levels meeting here for the 60th annual Nebraska Association of Fair Managers and the State Board of Agriculture opposed legisltion Tuesday in the 1969 Legislature that they said "could ruin the county and state fairs in Nebraska."

The fair managers passed a resolution opposing LB82 that would raise the tax from 4% to 8% without a $1 million exemption on all pari-mutuel race meets in Nebraska.

Nebraska is the only state in the nation that has pari-mutuel racing on a non-profit basis with tax and profits from race meets supplying the major income for county fairs and the State Fair.

Using Ak-Sar-Ben as an example, the fair managers noted that during the past 15 years Ak-Sar-Ben has furnished $710,929 in new construction and clean-up grants to county fairs, $415,002 in 4-H and FFA premiums and $1,102,740 in state tax on admissions and other fees to the State of Nebraska that is earmarked for county fairs.

Tax from the Nebraska State Fair paid to the state that supports fairs was near $170,000, the fair managers noted.

The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben announced Tuesday that the grants for new construction and clean up of Nebraska county fairs would be held up this year depending on the determination of legislation that might prevent the assistance that has been given fairs for the past 15 years.

"LB82 is legislation deterimental to every race track in Nebraska and the county fair program in Nebraska," said Tom Brock, manager of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Brock noted that a total of $2,228,671 has been provided to county fairs from Ak-Sar-Ben operations during the past 15 years.

Monte Kiffin of Lexington assumed the presidency of the State Board of Agriculture. He replaces Floyd Pohlman of Auburn who has retired from the board after a two-year term as president. Named to replace Pohlman on the seven man executive board was Charles Miller of Ralston, assistant to the president of the Omaha Public Power District.

New members named to the 29 member State Board of Agriculture were Earl Cherry, Mitchell, and Ron Bath, Auburn.

Other executive board officers are: Don Thompson, McCook, first vice president; Dan Siebold, Papillion, second vice president; Don Clement, Kearney, secretary-treasurer, and Henry Brandt, fair manager.

Other executive board members are Don Clement, Kearney; Wallace Thorson, Mead; Kenneth Torczon, Columbus; and Charles Miller, Ralston.

New officers of the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers are: Dale Thompson, McCook, president; Orville Koch, Dunbar, vice president; and Al Bahe, Wayne, secretary.

President Wires Brock Resident On 109th Birthday

Brock — Messages poured into this community Tuesday offering congratulations to the woman believed to be Nebraska's oldest resident, Mrs. Martha Aldrich.

With 109 candles on her birthday cake this year, Mrs. Aldrich was taking the event in her usual calm stride, according to her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Dougherty, with whom she resides.

Telegrams to Mrs. Aldrich came from President and Mrs. Richard Nixon, and Gov. Norbert Tiemann. Letters received included messages from Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis.

Also wiring congratulations was the national president of the WCTU, an organization Mrs. Aldrich has been affiliated with for many years.

A number of callers plus flowers from her grandchildren also highlighted the day for Mrs. Aldrich.

Although her strength is not as good as it was, Mrs. Aldrich remains in very good health, her daughter said. She fell last August and suffered a wrist fracture, but has made a good recovery, Mrs. Dougherty added.

Mrs. Aldrich, a active member of the United Methodist Church, has a son, Campbell, who resides in Brock; seven grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Twelve of the relatives gathered at her home last Sunday for a family dinner to mark her birthday.

Tribute From Solons

Nebraska's oldest resident, Mrs. Martha Aldrich of Brock, was congratulated Tuesday by the Nebraska Legislature on her 109th birthday.

The resolution passed by the Legislature extended its "warmest congratulations on this very special day." It also said, "We wish her the best of health and continued happiness."

The resolution also saluted Mrs. Aldrich as the state's "oldest registered voter" and noted she has voted in all but one state and national election since women received the right to vote.

Teachers' Pay Hike Rate Seen At Current Pace

Grand Island (AP) — The current rate of increase in teachers' salaries in Nebraska is likely to continue for the present in the opinion of many school administrators and board members.

Mrs. Virginia Vieregg of Grand Island, president of the Nebraska State School Boards Association, said there was general agreement on this point at a negotiations seminar concluded in Grand Island.

About 150 school administrators and board members representing the 57 largest school districts in the state attended the two-day conference co-sponsored by the state association and the Omaha-suburban area council of schools.

Mrs. Vieregg said no person present indicated that budgets would exceed the 8% per pupil cost increase limit provided under the state aid to education act. However, Omaha officials have indicated it will be difficult to remain within the limitation. Supt. Owen Knutzen said this will depend on the increases in teacher salaries.

Lincoln, Scottsbluff Youths Win Elks Leadership Contest

Chadron (UPI) — A Lincoln boy, Gary Chesnin, and a Scottsbluff girl, Jo Ellen Futa, were announced Wednesday as winners of the Nebraska Elks Association youth leadership contest.

Making the announcement was Ross O. Armstrong of Chadron, chairman of the Nebraska Elks Association leadership and scholarship committee.

Chesnin and Miss Futa will each receive a $350 saving bond and $175 cash. Chesnin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Chesnin of Lincoln.

Other state winners are:

James Horrocks and Cindy McNally, both of Norfolk, second place; David Holst of Hastings and Debbie Stoddard of Grand Island, third place; Jaydee Worden of Scottsbluff, fourth place; and Russell McGregor of Omaha, fifth place.

The district winners were Thomas Hill of Falls City, Gayle Slaughter of Omaha; Kim Stover of Kearney, Mary Haberman of Hastings, James Brannigan of North Platte, and Linda Aldrich of McCook.

Miss Futa

A total of $1,800 in cash and $750 in bonds will be awarded to the various winners.

The first place entries are entered in the Elks national youth leadership contest.

PTA Scholarship Winners Named

Peru (UPI) — Four Peru State College students have been selected recipients of the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers scholarships for the second semester, according to Mrs. George E. Robertson, state PTA scholarship chairman.

The $125 grants were awarded on the basis of scholarship, moral and social standards, and aptitude for teaching.

The Peru State recipients are Barbara Lampe of Johnson; Elizabeth Jane Budler of Bradshaw; Elaine Grundman of Talmage; and Carolyn J. Dorn of Burchard.

Hope Undergoes Eye Treatment

Hollywood (UPI) — Comedian Bob Hope, 65, underwent successful treatment Tuesday to stop recurrent hemarrhaging in his left eye.

He was reported resting comfortably after undergoing the delicate procedure.

A spokesman said Hope was given photocoagulation treatment, which involves shining a powerful beam of light in the eye to cauterize ruptured blood vessels, at UCLA medical center.

Buses Halted By Flat Tires

Naples (UPI) — Hundreds of persins were late to work Tuesday because most of the city's buses had flat tires.

Officials said someone punctured the tires during part of a strike by workers who maintain the vehicles.

Electric Service Almost Restored In Custer County

Broken Bow — Electric service will virtually be restored by Wednesday night in the Custer County Public Power District except for repairs to 345 poles, manager Dick Wilkerson said Tuesday.

During the storm last week, two or three inches of ice on each conductor caused line and pole damage. Between 1,200 and 1,300 poles were damaged, affecting 2,500 to 3,000 customers, Wilkerson said.

Also damaged by the storm were two radio towers, though some radio service continued by using an older tower in the area.

About 50 men from the power district are helping to restore service along with about 75 others from Palisade, Lexington, Ainsworth, Ord, Cambridge, St. Paul, Lincoln, Bird City, Kan., Norton, Kan., and some other cities in Nebraska.

Possibility Of Missing Plane Disappearing Through Missouri River Ice Believed Remote

Sioux Falls, S.D. (AP) — The probability that the missing Augustana College plane disappeared through a hole in the ice along the Missouri River is regarded as remote, a South Dakota Civil Air Patrol officer said Tuesday.

When official search was suspended for the plane last weekend, it was announced that when the weather permitted, a check would be made on a report by a pilot that he saw a hole in the river ice near Greenwood, S.D., last Saturday.

Maj. Robert Maxwell of the CAP said Tuesday that weather was continuing to delay a final examination of the river report.

"However," the major said, on further study, we have learned that there are a number of holes in the ice in that area and that they apparently are caused by artesian wells below the river.

"We would, therefore, not think at this time that there would be much probability that the Greenwood ice holes would contain the plane."

No Debris

The major said that almost certainly that if the plane had gone into the river there would be debris and other evidence of the crash at the surface.

"Also," he said, "We feel that if there were any holes other than would have been caused by the natural condition of the river, they would have frozen over again with the kind of weather we've been having."

The plane, with two college instructors and four students on board, disappeared Jan. 11 shortly after making a radio check with the North Platte airport. The plane was enroute to Sioux Falls returning from a debate tournament at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Burklund Chosen

Clay Center — John Burklund is the new president of the Clay Center Chamber of Commerce. Other officers include Bill Hertel Jr., vice president; Don Burkum, secretary; and Dwaynne Mazour, treasurer.

Hruska Lists Academies' Nominations

Washington (AP) — Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., has announced his nominations for appointments to the United States Military, Naval, Air Force and Merchant Marine Academies.

Besides principal nominees, Sen. Hruska named alternates who may be considered for the appointments in the event the principal appointee fails to qualify.

All nominees must now pass college entrance examination board tests and meet service physical standards.

The principal nominees:

Military Academy — Terrence J. Eastman, Omaha.

Naval Academy — Terence Martin Keller, Fremont; James August Moseman, Oakland.

Air Force Academy — Gary Louis Anderson, Lincoln.

Merchant Marine Academy — (All nominees compete for 10 vacancies allotted the state): Douglas H. Damerst, Chadron; William H. Hansen, Fremont; Gary Dean Hemphill, Gordon; Rodney A. Johnson, North Bend; Ralph B. Miller, Genoa.

EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In speaking of various world problems, President Richard M. Nixon, in his first major press conference since his inauguration, made repeated references to the freshness of his administration. He spoke of a "new sense of urgency" and of "new tactics" and of "new initiatives and new leadership."

Certainly, when one contemplates the explosive atmosphere in which civilization lives, he is inclined to look for new approaches, new ways of doing things. But fundamentally, the world is going to have to want peace as much as it wants turmoil before there can be real hope of agreement among nations.

The President referred to the Middle East as a potential place of confrontation between the nuclear powers of the world. This is very true because the U.S. is dedicated to the preservation of Israel and Russia backs the sovereignty of the Arabs.

An insight into just how explosive and uncontrollable the Middle East is can be seen in the hanging this week by Iraq of nine Jews accused of spying. Whether the Jews were spies or not, Iraq should never have conducted the public execution of them it did.

If Iraq were seriously interested in peace, it would have considered the disruptive nature of the execution on both Israel and its own people. It inflamed the passions of both Iraqis and Israelis.

In Brazil, a Roman Catholic archbishop has called for an end to the U.S. "continental ex-communication" of Cuba and said that the U.S.-led economic blockade of Cuba has "condemned a whole sister nation to live in a ghetto."

Now, few Americans need to be told about Fidel Castro and his communism. But what is going to be the ultimate end of the policies we are practicing against Castro?

Are we going to bring the bearded premier to his knees or cause him to relent his political actions of the past and join the democracies of the world? There is very little chance of either of those things happening.

What we are doing is furthering the breach that exists between Cuba and the United States. We are not attempting to suggest anything, except that our actions as of this time are neither humanitarian nor very productive.

But humanitarian considerations are not what motivates many countries in their relationships with others. If it did, the world would not be engaged in the disasters and near-disasters that now occupy it.

The South Vietnamese are willing to sit down and talk things over with the Viet Cong. But it would not work, at least at this time, because both sides are more interested in their own positions of power and influence than in settling the differences that exist between them.

One hopes that President Nixon will be able to devise some new way of working toward peace but it is a formidable challenge he is taking on.

Diplomatically, it is perplexing to try to find the key to successful conclusion of the differences that separate various nations of the world. The U.S., for instance, does face the knotty problem of consistent communist aggression.

On the other hand, does our nation adequately recognize the fact that our political, social and economic concepts are not infallible? If we could only see ourselves a hundred years from now, we might realize that the concepts of today are far different than they will be at some distant time.

Realizing that, we might better be able to understand the forces that are at work in the world to create ideologies that are foreign to us. We do need to accept such foreign ideologies more than we do at present if we are ever going to be able to live at peace with them.

Not until the whole world comes to value the essence of humanity more than its form will we find the tranquility we supposedly seek.

TOM WICKER
Mr. Nixon Conducts A News Conference

WASHINGTON — Fifteen to 20 million Americans, give or take a few, probably watched Richard Nixon's first news conference and it well may be that the impression they received will be lasting.

Like John Kennedy, who originated the live-TV news conference in 1961, Nixon had to worry over an irretrievable "goof" on some aspect of foreign or domestic policy; the mistake itself would be bad enough but the impression that he was prone to such slips, or to speaking his mind first and dissembling later, would be far worse, particularly if registered on foreign leaders.

The more likely danger was that he simply would not come across as an effective or attractive leader to the millions watching — particularly since they would measure him not only against Lyndon Johnson, who was not comfortable on television and came to avoid it, but against Kennedy, who was the first presidential master of the medium.

What the viewer saw was a middle-aged, slightly built fellow, soberly dressed, whose hairline was going away a little but who had managed a cosmetic triumph over his celebrated case of five o'clock shadow. Once he settled down and got his throat cleared, he seemed in positively iron control of himself.

Only on the last question, when he was relaxed and obviously in the home stretch, did Nixon (discussing the Paris negotiations) permit himself the luxury of some vigorous pounding of his fist into his palm.

This visual image of Nixon was marred only on the long shots, when his eyes became dark sockets; but that was infinitely to be preferred to more extensive makeup or trick lighting or any other subterfuge. The stand-up microphone the President used instead of a lectern — as was his custom throughout his campaign — made his every movement and attitude singularly visible and therefore vulnerable; on the other hand, it emphasized that he was working without notes or other props.

Television impact is more than, although primarily, visual; what is said is surely a part of it, as are the subliminal impressions transmitted by the totality of man, moment, surroundings, context, words, image — to be received, moreover, as through a prism, filtered and bent by attitudes already held by the viewer.

Congressional Pay

Four of Nebraska's five-member congressional delegation reportedly oppose former President Johnson's recommended $12,500 pay increase for members of Congress which will go into effect next month unless vetoed by Congress.

Sen. Carl Curtis and Second District Congressman Glenn Cunningham are quoted as being flatly against any pay raise while Sen. Roman Hruska thinks "some increase is merited." First District Representative Robert Denney indicates a lesser increase, in the $5,000 range, is in order, or perhaps a hike from $3,000 to $6,000 in the tax exemption allowed members for maintaining two homes.

The whole question of upping the salaries of elected officials is likely to raise the hair on the back of the neck of the fellow who makes considerably less each year than the increase proposed for his congressional representatives.

It's hard for most of us to view the proposed increase in its true proportion to that which we customarily receive. The mere thought of a forty-one per cent raise is enough to arch the eyebrows.

Looking at it realistically, though, being a congressman can involve considerable financial sacrifice. Keeping two homes, traveling his district or his state as he should and enduring the burdensome cost of living in Washington can put a man in a bind, and he should be compensated for it.

Some sort of raise is in order, as well as a new look at expense allowances. It would set better with people, however, if a less dramatic salary increase were adopted.

Impeding Traffic Flow

Properly so, the City Council found a number of reasons to cast a majority vote against an ordinance making it unlawful to impede traffic flow by failure to have chains or snow tires. Such matters as insurance liability and determination of fault were legitimate questions raised against the ordinance.

And there are additional matters. Basically, the requirement is an unnecessary one and, possibly, would not do what it would be intended to do. Would it force the use of snow tires or chains or would it merely add to the expense of a traffic fine to drivers caught without such equipment at the wrong time?

Rather than an ordinance for snow tires and chains, it is too bad we cannot have an ordinance making it mandatory for everyone to know how to drive. Just plain common sense ought to tell drivers such things as staying on the snow rather than the ice, to keep slowly moving rather than coming to a full stop where none is required, to start slowly when stopped and to park in consideration of others.

Far more problems and accidents in driving are caused by poor drivers than anything else. Tuesday morning it was slick and we observed drivers illegally unloading passengers and, thereby, stopping traffic on an uphill grade. We have seen cars carelessly parking so they extend into the line of moving traffic. We have seen drivers with snow tires endlessly spinning their wheels with a hard acceleration and going absolutely nowhere.

The City Council is correct in its concern for moving traffic but it was also correct killing the equipment requirement code.

MARQUIS CHILDS
Nixon Approach In Job Offers To Negroes Handled Poorly And Aroused Resentment

WASHINGTON — The bleached white look of the Nixon administration — "lily white" is the scornful term — is the source of a subterranean controversy. Why aren't there more men and women of color in the new "forward together" administration?

The more or less official answer supplied by Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert Finch is that Negroes offered high-level posts turned them down because they didn't want to become in the eyes of black militants Uncle Toms. Finch in an interview was candid in expressing the blunt truth that, since the Nixon-Agnew ticket got less than 10 per cent of the Negro vote, there was no need to hurry in meeting political obligations.

Leaders in the black community do not see it this way. They feel that the Nixon recruiters in their approach to prominent Negroes were inept and so overcautious as to seem indifferent. In support of this, they cite an interesting case that ended with rejection, hurt feelings and a growing alienation.

Mrs. Ersa H. Poston, president of New York State's Civil Service Commission, holds one of the highest positions of any Negro in the nation. With cabinet rank in Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's administration in Albany, she has jurisdiction over 150,000 state employes and under the law she is responsible for seeing that civil service standards are enforced over another 150,000 to 200,000 workers in New York City. John W. Macy Jr., retiring chairman of the Federal Civil Service Commission, regards her as one of the ablest pros in the civil service field.

Not long after the November election, Mrs. Poston picked up word that she was under investigation. Her associates were being interviewed on her background and qualifications. Finally her secretary came to her to say, "Mrs. Poston, they came to talk to me and I tried to think of all the bad things I could because I want you to stay here."

While she had been given no clue by Nixon headquarters, Mrs. Poston learned that she was under consideration to be head of the Civil Service Commission in Washington. One call to Rockefeller, as she saw it, would have clarified the whole matter and obviated the investigation.

Shortly before the President-elect put on his television spectacular announcing his incoming cabinet, Mrs. Poston was offered the job. After some back-and-forth questions and answers in which she asked for certain stipulations about the office, she said no. Deeply resentful of the way the approach had been made, her feelings were soon known to the small group of Negro men and women eligible for top jobs.

Failing in this approach, the Nixon team took the line of least resistance and elevated the Republican member of the three-man commission, Robert E. Hampton, to the chairmanship. For the vacancy, they recruited James E. Johnson from California. Johnson was that rarest of rare species, a Negro for Ronald Reagan in conservative Orange County in Reagan's 1966 governorship race. A former insurance executive, Reagan rewarded him by making him head of California's Department of Veterans Affairs. Johnson, it has been disclosed, issued a memorandum shortly after taking office, saying that all state employes "must think this way," referring to Reagan's "creative society," the phrase the governor used in his his campaign to state his goals.

No one underestimates the toughness of the problem. The Negro leadership is deeply fragmented. Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is assailing the black militants who seem to want their own form of black apartheid.

Another case in point is that of Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League. The League is one of the moderate groups still cooperating with white champions of civil rights and Young has shown no fear of the Uncle Tom brand.

Keeping lines of trust and communication open to the other world of the Negro, where the potential of violence lies so close to the surface, is supremely important. The new President and his team say they will persist in finding qualified Negroes for top jobs still vacant. This would seem to be their No. 1 priority in togetherness.

Unclean Rooms

Lincoln, Neb.

I can't understand why, when we have two universities and a college, that organizations as well as our city always have to go to some out-of-town concern for management or help. Don't our graduates learn anything, or do they merely attend for the social life?

I have reference to the company that has taken over presumably the cleaning, etc. of one of our hospitals. It is no longer the clean and pleasant place it once was. Being a member of a prominent organization, I visit in all the hospitals and I find that in this one hospital, the rooms are anything but clean. Many of their former help are found working elsewhere and very few have been replaced.

Upon inquiry, I learned that this company has headquarters in Europe with their office in this country in Chicago.

Maybe it is the patients on Medicare or the indigent ones who are so neglected.

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.

I would like to thank The Star staff in behalf of Women in Community Service for the excellent coverage given our program recently. It is very rewarding to volunteers to be able to have the community learn of what is being done and what we hope to accomplish through our efforts. It would have been impossible without The Star's contribution in making our community aware of the unmet needs of the young women with whom we work.

A Noble Friend

Holdrege, Neb.

I am shocked and grieved by the news of Senator Stanley Matzke's sudden demise. Stan did many things for me and I had little opportunity to do anything for him.

He permitted me to read law in his office, and his modern viewpoint of the American law helped me to appreciate more fully the ancient laws of Moses, the Pentateuch or first five books in the Old Testament.

When I was pastor of the Federated Church in Seward, I had the privilege of preaching to him many times. I visited court many times and was thrilled by his eloquent addresses to the jury and his patient and tactful cross-questioning of the jury. He was an attentive listener to my messages.

In the historic Magazine Club of Seward, he brought us many eloquent messages on both current and historic topics. We used to say humorously that it was a treat to get a lawyer on our witness stand and make him take some of his own medicine. He always emerged the victor.

He taught a class in our Federated Church school, and drew a number who did not attend regularly. One of his admirers was a brilliant young lawyer.

It was my privilege to be an officer in York Rite Masonry when he took the Noble and Sublime Royal Arch work.

He asked me to ride along with him once when he had business in Beatrice. This enabled me to visit the State Home there.

The Unitarian Church denomination to which he belonged emerged from the older Congregational Church. It is scholarly and forward looking.

I express my sympathy and sorrow to his family and friends. I share their grief, for I have lost a noble friend.

Skating Rink

Lincoln, Neb.

On Saturday, January 25, I — a mother of a 12-year-old daughter and two sons, 7 and 5½ — went to the only roller-skating rink in Lincoln for what I thought would be wholesome, clean recreation.

We found the rink very crowded, with a few supervisory older teen-agers skating around and doing a fairly good job of this. No complaint in that capacity, to speak of.

What appalled me was the number of youngsters themselves who were smoking, ages running from 11 to 14, and young couples of about 14 and 15 who were necking in public.

I think if parents allow their children to run loose like this in such a large recreational facility, then the supervisors should be allowed to enforce the no-smoking rule, especially of minors, and no public demonstrations of affection.

Such a place with these behavior practices is no place to drop off minor children and trust that they get proper stimulation for Christian growth.

DREW PEARSON
Internal Dissension In Peru

WASHINGTON — President Nixon faces so many problems on the international front that he probably doesn't realize he is sitting on a time bomb in Latin America. When it explodes, it could result in setting up the first communist government on the mainland of South America.

The time bomb is in Peru, which for years has enjoyed friendly relations with the United States. Recently, however, a military regime has seized the International Petroleum Company, chiefly owned by Standard Oil of New Jersey. This has touched off repercussions which have brought American-Peruvian relations to their lowest ebb in history.

Ironically the military dictatorship now ruling Peru was originally armed and supported by the United States, beginning in the Truman and Eisenhower administrations. In recent years Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Assistant Secretary Covey Oliver have cracked down on the sale of U.S. arms to Peru and other Latin countries.

However, the Peruvian military, in many cases using U.S. arms, have thrown out the duly elected government of President Fernando Belaunde Terry and are now running things high, wide and handsome.

Ironically, they chucked out Belaunde just after he had negotiated an agreement with the big American oil combine whereby IPC agreed to surrender its operations in the northern Peruvian oil field. The military didn't like the fact that the surrender was to take place over a period of years. They wanted immediate action. So on Oct. 3 they threw out Belaunde, replacing him with a dictatorship of Peruvian colonels headed by Juan Velasco Alvardo.

What makes Peru a time bomb is the fact that seizure of American property abroad automatically requires the United States to cut off both foreign aid and its sugar quota.

This is specified in the Hickenlooper amendment, written into the sugar quota law by ex-Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, at the time the United States was parceling up the very profitable sugar quotas which it took away from Fidel Castro in Cuba.

Peru is one of the beneficiaries of this quota, and the Peruvian sugar industry is now vital to the economy of the country. Cancelling the quota would throw thousands of Peruvian farmers out of work and create more animosity against the United States. Under the law, the State Department, however, has no choice but to cancel the sugar quota in case of the seizure of U.S. property.

In case the sugar quota is chopped off, the Peruvian military is threatening to retaliate by seizing the Cerro de Pasco copper mines. These are among the richest copper properties in the world. Their seizure would immediately freeze Peruvians bank credit in the Western world.

The military government's alternative would be to turn to the communist world. Already there are rumblings of this among the hotheaded captains and majors in the Peruvian army who have been pretty well immersed in the doctrines of Mao Tse-Tung and Gamal Abdul Nasser of Egypt.

Ironically, it was the Peruvian military which seized control of the government during the Kennedy administration in the 1960s to block the election of left-wing Haya de la Torre and his pro-Indian Aprista party. The young military officers who forced De la Torre out of political power have now gone further to the left than the Apristas.

All this was inherited by the Nixon administration. However, faced with problems in the Near East and Vietnam, the Nixon regime has done nothing about the Peruvian time bomb. It has not yet appointed a new assistant secretary of state to handle Latin American affairs.

Meanwhile, the fuse on the Peruvian bomb sputters rapidly.

Lincoln's Adoption Of State English Curriculum Urged

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Adopting the Nebraska English curriculum design throughout the Lincoln public schools was urged by the district's English expert at the Board of Education meeting Tuesday morning.

Implementing the curriculum design developed by University of Nebraska and public school officials in a special project was given the top priority among recommendations for strengthening the teaching of English.

Language consultant Mrs. Dorothy Olson proposed that the Nebraska design be adopted for pre-school through 12th grade, "always being aware that English curriculum must not become rigid and unchanging."

The Nebraska curriculum is used system-wide through the eighth grade and in selected classes in the other grade levels. It is used by at least one class at every secondary school.

Mrs. Olson emphasized that she does not propose that every student read every selection suggested in the Nebraska curriculum. But modifications in the list of selections should be designed by small groups of teachers working together rather than by one teacher individually, she indicated.

Language, literature and composition are included in the design of the curriculum, the board was told. They are interrelated in the English lessons for a total language arts approach.

'Varying Abilities'

The curriculum design should "continue to pay particular attention to the varying abilities of students," Mrs. Olson said.

Increased opportunities for teacher in-service training programs also was given a high priority by the English consultant in the written recommendations submitted to the board.

According to her, the in-service education should be directed toward both content and method. Teachers need to be "kept up-to-date" on the scholarship and new teaching methods of English.

Reading consultant Dwight Grandgenette outlined the school district's reading program in the elementary schools as a part of the series of curriculum reports to the board.

Several Programs

Average readers in the school district generally move through a series of basic readers, while slow students are taught with a series entitled "Open Highways" and advanced students use the series of "Wide Horizons."

As a slow student progresses, he should be programmed into the basic readers if possible rather than continuing in "Open Highways" for his entire elementary career, explained Grandgenette.

Lincoln uses a traditional approach for teaching reading, he said.

In addition to objectives of teaching students to read, the program aims to develop children "through their reading as well," it was pointed out.

Among recommendations submitted in writing for improving the reading program in Lincoln were:

—Development of a training program for teachers for various reading positions in the schools.

—Assignment of a teacher with special training in reading to the staff of every school — both elementary and secondary.

—Employment of some teachers to plan and produce curriculum materials.

—Hiring more teacher aides to promote individualized instruction.

—Hiring a researcher and performing studies on effective teaching methods and in-service programs.

—Encouraging NU to offer an M.A. degree for a reading major.

In other business Tuesday the board approved recommendations to fully implement the designation of the school district as an area vocational and technical school and to "provide for its orderly transition and expansion toward an institution which can be wholly responsive to the occupational needs of the community."

All post high school and adult educational programs of the district will be administered as part of the voc-tech school. Dr. James Lightbody was appointed to head the operation as he has been in charge of the adult division.

The board also agreed to include a tax levy and budget next year for the operation of the school and establish separate accounting for the unit.

Joining Projects For Disadvantaged, Regular School Programs Proposed

Integrating the Title I speech and reading programs for disadvantaged students into the regular school program was proposed to the Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday.

The evaluator of the federally-funded program, Dr. M. Scott Norton of the University of Nebraska, specifically recommended that the diagnostic center, which analyzes speech and reading problems and prescribes treatment or makes referrals to another agency, be placed under the direct responsibility of the associate superintendent in charge of instruction.

That administrator should "coordinate and delegate the specific responsibilities of program execution to the division of pupil guidance and related personnel in the instruction areas," Norton declared.

Termination Advised

The evaluator also advised in his written report that the separate Title I summer school be discontinued with the regular summer school offering a "comprehensive program to meet the special needs of all pupils."

"Separation of Title I pupils into a separate program in a separate building appears to militate against the objectives of Title I regarding helping each pupil return to the 'normal stream' of daily living," he said.

Norton commented that "the strength of the Title I program depends in large part on the coordination and direct involvement of presently existing school departments and staff personnel."

Supt. John Prasch also indicated to the board that if federal projects remain separate from the regular school programs, there will not be enough relationship to "modify the regular program."

Loss In Ability

According to test results in the evaluation, in some cases students actually showed a loss in reading ability after their participation in the summer camping program.

Prasch admitted that the "summer experience failed to improve reading." But reading improvement was not an objective of the camping program, he pointed out.

The objective of that portion of Title I was to "make kids like school better which we think we did," he said.

The evaluation, however, fails to indicate whether those students showing a loss in word recognition were referrals from the diagnostic center or enrolled in the Title I summer school program emphasizing reading. Neither was required for attendance.

Results Positive

Reading results were positive for the majority of students in Title I, according to the superintendent.

Evaluation of other objectives such as pupil self-image, attitude toward school, parental involvement and social development have been positive, Prasch added.

The evaluation of the Head Start program in the Lincoln schools amounted to a description of the activities involving the pre-schoolers and their parents.

Director Miss Ruth Eickman also reported that the target schools with large populations of low-income or academically disadvantaged students had changed during the past year.

List Changes

Belmont, Dawes, Norwood Park and Bethany were dropped from the list of target schools while Lake View, General Arnold, Randolph Hawthorne and Holmes were added to the list. The latter two were designated target schools because of the high number of academically disadvantaged or speech problems, she said.

Maximum income limits for eligible families have been raised from $3,200 to $3,300 per year for a family of four, she noted later.

Among the new Head Start programs for parents is the "In the Home" project whereby a parent may check out a suitcase of games, books and other items for a week.

Cameras, with film and flash bulbs and tape recorders are available for checkout for a shorter time with certain regulations.

Miss Eickman explained that the suitcases and other items had been purchased with money contributed by a community group. Other things, such as hair clippers, will be added as parents request them and funds are available, she said.

Two Teen-Agers To Sit On Council At First Lutheran

First Lutheran Church approved a special resolution electing two teen-agers to the church council at its annual meeting.

David Dahl and Sue Maseman were elected as the first associate council members.

"While our youth do have voice and vote at meetings of the congregation," the Rev. Richard H. Englund said, "this is the first time they have been seated on the council."

Also elected to three-year council terms were Charles Cleveland, Dr. John Davis, Mrs. Howard Fletcher, Lewis Hinkley and Dr. Gerald Tharp. Mrs. Paul Olson and Oscar Sward were elected to fill one-year vacancies.

The congregation adopted a budget of $91,300, of which $15,000 will be used for benevolences and $34,000 for debt reduction.

After the annual meeting, the council elected officers. They are Basil Monkelien, vice president; Mrs. Roderick Price, secretary, and Russell Kisling, treasurer. The Rev. Mr. Englund is ex president officio.

School Omitted

Sacred Heart Catholic School was inadvertently omitted from the list in Tuesday morning Star of schools that would be used as elementary buildings under a restructuring proposal for local Catholic schools.

Hangman Needed

Johannesburg, South Africa (AP) —Two African murderers due to have been hanged Jan. 11 in Maseru, capital of neighboring Lesotho, are still alive because Lesotho has no hangman, newspaper reports here said.

County Seeks Slightly Less For Roads Than Last Year

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

A $1,709,000 proposed 1969 county road program, which is more than $200,000 less than the 1968 proposed program of $1,940,000,. was presented the Lancaster County Board Tuesday by Engineer Walter Hoppe.

Public hearing on the program is scheduled Feb. 18 and the board must adopt a program by March 1.

The proposed program calls for 9.3 miles of new paving, another 3.25 miles of road financed last year with federal funds but not completed, 35.75 miles of road grading with county forces and 16 new bridges.

The largest single expenditure included in the proposed program is $608,000 for labor and supervision, compared to $564,000 last year.

New Work Off

Anticipated costs for new construction are down considerably from previous years with 1969 costs estimated at $501,000 as compared to $711,000 in 1968 and $738,200 in 1967.

Maintenance cost estimates for 1969 are $536,000 — $22,000 more than the $514,000 in last year's proposal, but still $3,500 less than the $540,500 proposed in 1967.

Expenditures for new equipment and property are less than half what the 1968 program proposed.

Costs for new equipment in 1969 are estimated at $64,000 as compared with $133,100 last year. The only anticipated purchases are three cars, $6,000; one D-6 tractor, $32,000; three two-ton trucks, $9,000, and two tractors with rotary mowers, $6,000.

Largest Project

The largest paving project included is 6.5 miles on the Prairie Home Road from O Street north to Waverly at a cost of $105,000 to be taken from the mail route fund.

Other paving projects include 1.5 miles from Panama west at a cost of $72,000 to be financed through the special road construction fund and 1.3 miles on 84th Street from Old Cheney Road south to Highway 2, at a total cost of $108,000. Of this, $66,000 will be paid through the special road construction fund and the other $42,000 from the half-cent gas tax fund.

Also included in the proposed program to be financed with matching federal funds is grading 3.5 miles from Hallam west at a cost of $45,000.

No Aid Funds

Hoppe said there will be no federal aid funds available for secondary-road paving in 1969, while federal matching funds in 1968 boosted total expenditures considerably.

Listed below are the 16 proposed new concrete box culvert bridges at a total estimated cost of $70,000:

Bridge H-146, 2 miles north and ½ mile west of Waverly, $4,300.

Bridge H-114, 2 miles east and 1½ miles south of Waverly, $3,200.

Bridge S-45, 1 mile west and 1 mile south of Roca, $2,300.

Bridge S-109, 2½ miles east and mile south of Roca, $2,600.

Bridge S-198, 4 miles east and 1 mile north of Roca, $3,800.

Bridge U-62, 3 miles north of Kramer, $4,600.

Bridge V-27, 1 mile north of Kramer, $6,400.

Bridge V-30, north edge of Kramer, $4,600.

Bridge V-144, 1½ miles south and 1½ miles west of Kramer, $3,200.

Bridge X-109, 2½ miles east and 1 mile south of Roca. $4,000.

Bridge X-110, ¼ mile east of Holland, $4,800.

Bridge X-197, ¾ mile east of Holland, $6,400.

Bridge X-146, west edge of Panama, $3,800.

Bridge Y-150, ½ mile west of Panama, $4,500.

Bridge Y-151, 2 miles west of Panama, $3,900.

Bridge Y-152, 3 miles west of Panama, $7,600.

Serious Nursing Care Problem Faces County

. . . Tabitha Home Seeks Hike

The acute problems of shortage in nursing home facilities for the indigent and rising costs presented themselves to Lancaster County Tuesday after it received a request for substantial monthly increases for care of 26 county patients at Tabitha Home.

County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert said that the county is now paying $6,110 per month for those 26 patients but that the requested increases would bring the total monthly cost at Tabitha to $7,600.

He said this would average $57.30 per patient, with eleven of the requested increases bringing the total per patient cost above the $300 maximum set by the state that may be paid for nursing care for the indigent.

He and Dr. George Underwood, director of the City-County Health Department, both stated that there are no other available beds at the present time and indicated that they hoped something could be worked out with the nursing home.

Trabert said he would confer with the Tabitha administrator to see if the nursing home would accept a proposal for the county to allow the increases up to the $300 maximum and to allow the maximum of $300 for those patients for whom costs would exceed the $300 ceiling if the requested increase were allowed.

He said if such a proposal were acceptable and approved by the Lancaster County Board, the monthly cost to the county would be $7,050 for the 26 patients.

This would average $271 per case as compared to $235 being paid now. He said the maximum the county is now paying for any patient at Tabitha is $285 per month.

Trabert said that the county has 386 indigent patients in privately-owned nursing homes including Tabitha.

County Postpones Decision On Mental Retardation Office

Lancaster County commissioners Tuesday deferred action until Commissioner Ralph Harlan, who was absent due to the death of his brother, returns on an agreement for the formation of the Lancaster County Office of Mental Retardation (LOMR).

Board Chairman Kenneth Bourne said that the board as a whole would like to act on the agreement, but indicated that no problems were foreseen.

Under the agreement, the government of LOMR would be vested in the county, with the executive board of the Capitol Association for Retarded Children serving as the initial administrative board.

The county board's responsibilities include determining the amount of the appropriation for the operation, maintenance and construction or acquisition of facilities, programs and services that shall be borne by the county.

Other funds will come from the state and federal governments and outside sources.

Also cooperating in the agreement are the State Health and Public Institutions Departments, which, according to the agreement, will provide counseling, staffing and other cooperation to meet the goals.

What's That Program Called?

Gov. Norbert Tiemann's budget message will pre-empt a program called "Your Dollar's Worth" on educational television Wednesday night.

The ETV network said the budget message will be broadcast at 8 p.m. Wednesday, and that "Your Dollar's Worth", originally scheduled at that time, will be seen instead at 10:30 the same evening.

HAPPY RECOVERY

Wrinkling her nose and flashing a smile, 19-year-old Karen Parker of Sioux Falls, S.D., is recovering from a Jan. 8 operation at the University of Minnesota Hospital in Minneapolis in which she received a kidney from her father. Residents of the college freshman's hometown raised more than $27,000 to help the Parkers meet the expenses of the surgery.

Copple To Head YMCA Directors

Edward Copple was named president of the Lincoln YMCA board of directors Monday, the board announced Tuesday.

Copple was chairman of the recent YMCA-YWCA building expansion campaign and has served at other civic posts including the presidency of the Lincoln School Board. He remains a member of that board.

Others named to three-year terms on the YMCA board were William E. James, Harry W. Peterson, Donald Endacott, Earl T. Luff, James Hewitt, James F. Nissen and Glen F. Stover.

E. L. Smith and Ralph Tyler Sr. were elected to four-year terms on the board of trustees.

Additionally, nine men were named to the Y's West Central Area Council: Don Parker, Donald Endacott, Kurt Kollmorgen, K. B. Clark, William E. James, Monroe Usher Jr., Earl Luff, Harry Peterson and William A. Schenk.

In other business the directors approved an application to the New York Life Insurance Co. for $500,000, as part of the financing for the new Y building.

The loan, if accepted by the company, would provide for an eight per cent interest rate and a maturity of 23 years.

The directors were informed by the Southeast Branch board of management that it will take an estimated $78,000 to remodel and furnish the Bryan Methodist Church property at 6140 South St.

The board has yet to buy the property, and to get a special use permit from the Lincoln City Council for it, however.

'Break-A-Brick' Ceremony Slated For New Central 'Y'

A "'break-a-brick' groundbreaking" ceremony will be staged at the old Capital Hotel, 11th and P Sts., Saturday morning, celebrating the first "physical" step toward a new Lincoln Central YMCA.

The ceremony will start at 10 o'clock, Y Executive Driector William Schenk said. "We can't 'break ground' at the corner of 11th and P," Schenk commented, "so we're going to 'break-a-brick' instead."

Larry Price will emcee the event, which will include speeches by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf and Bennett Martin, who donated the hotel to the Y.

The $1,348,000 project includes remodeling the hotel and building an addition to it. Hopefully, it will be ready for use by the first of September next year, Schenk said.

City To Oppose Labor Board Bill

By THOMAS EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

A legislative bill (LB70) before the Unicameral Labor Committee is causing concern at City Hall among city officials who claim it "would poke holes in our city charter and ordinances."

The labor bill, sponsored by Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, would provide an appeal to municipal employes who disagree with the salaries and benefits the city is offering.

The bill proposes to create a five-man labor board which would adjust salaries and benefits of state, local, school district and other political subdivision employes when a controversy exists, with the decision to be final and binding.

To Oppose Bill

Ralph Nelson, who represents the City of Lincoln before the Unicameral on issues affecting the city, said the city would oppose the bill and also another labor bill to be heard by the Labor Committee which would compel the city to enter into written agreements with employe organizations regarding employment.

The city ordinance related to municipal employes states that it is the City Council which shall have the final authority to determine salaries and benefits.

"It will have a detrimental effect on the operation of our personnel system when the state can dictate to the city what it should offer its employees," Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Tuesday.

Presently, the City Council determines salaries, acting on the advise of the mayor, the personnel board and the personnel director.

System Said Good

Mayor Schwartzkopf said that the city has a very good personnel system with a grieveance procedure that has worked out well.

The personnel ordinance states that the personnel director shall make studies on proper pay scales and benefits and submit recommendations to the personnel board, which then advises the mayor on what should be offered to employes. The mayor then makes his recommendations to the City Council.

An employe has the right to appear before the board and before the City Council to present his case should he believe the salary and benefits are not enough.

The council determines the wage and benefit adjustments in view of other demands on the budget.

Community Chest, Council Meeting To Feature Alcott

James A. Alcott, director of the Economics and Management Division of the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City, Mo., will speak at the joint annual meeting of the Lincoln Community Chest and the Lincoln Community Council at noon Tuesday at the Lincoln Hotel.

Harry P. Seward, re-elected Community Council president, and Julian H. Hopkins, retiring Community Chest president, will report the year's activities. The Chest will elect new directors. The council will choose officers and directors.

Poet Shares Work With NU's Students

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

Poet-author Stanley Cooperman spoke at an informal huddle of word buffs Tuesday in the Nebraska Student Union lounge and said in many words what the poet Yeats beat him to the punch at:

> "How do I know what I mean
> Untill I've said it."

Cooperman, author of "World War I and the American Novel" (1967), read selections from his newly-released "The Day of the Parrot and Other Poems" and swapped ideas about verse with students.

Among his readings were the title poem and numerous other selections he has penned during his five years as a "serious" poet. (Q. "Why write?" A. "Why breathe?")

Gap Narrowed

Cooperman said that poetry and multi-media psychedelia are two entirely different art genres, but in "Parrot" he almost bridges the gap between the two, especially in "Cappelbaum's Love Song."

> "... Remember that rainbows and > dahlias > take communion > from last month's fish
> Remember that the smell > of a rose is the same oil that drips > from the tissues > of dead cats, > polar bears, grandfathers, or > girls . . ."

Cooperman said he utilizes "hard" images (those having substance) as a message, because words dealing directly with human feeling (love, hate, etc.) have been debased.

Defends Images

The poet also defended his use of such images as being in keeping with the times. "We know we live in a surrealistic world every time we pick up a newspaper."

Some of his poems could be called "political," Cooperman noted, and his conversation indicated his leanings.

"It's been a lousy 3,000 years. We've either been running from revolutions or towards them."

"Men can be enemies. The danger comes when they eliminate their humanity."

'Bullet-proof Vest'

"Every time someone says 'This is Virtue,' I want to reach for a bullet-proof vest."

"A hand grenade is an obscenity. Making love is not."

Of the future of poetry, the associate professor of English at Simon Fraser University in Vancouver said that there is no more limitation on what language can accomplish than there is on what science will be able to do tomorrow.

'Quite An Itch'

Asked if poetry could become obsolete, he replied, "For what is often termed an obsolete art form, there's still quite an itch for it."

He noted the large number of aspiring young bards who send him reams of carefully penned verse to examine.

Although Cooperman said his own poetry was at first a kind of personal "aspirin tablet," he was critical of young writers who tend to, as he put it, "squeeze their own carbuncles" in their writings — something that makes it interesting only to their mothers.

Mrs. Ridnour, Ex-Fraternity 'Mother,' Dies

Services for Mrs. Jessie V. (Jaye) Ridnour of 2457 So. 27th, retired fraternity housemother, will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Roper and Sons' Mortuary, 4300 O.

MRS. JESSIE RIDNOUR

Dies At 82

Mrs. Ridnour, widow of John C. Ridnous, died Monday at the age of 82.

She was known as "Mom Jaye" to Alpha Tau Omega fraternity members for 18 years until her retirmenet in 1957.

During her years as housemother she kept a yearly scrapbook of "her boys" and corresponded with many of the graduates. During the war, she sent out regular newsletters to boys in the service.

In 1961 her three daughters published a book of her poetry, entitled "All in a Lifetime," as a birthday gift. The book is a collection of her writings over the years.

Survivors include her daughters, Mrs. Roma Hiatt, Mrs. Al (Ruth) Miles, Mrs. Frank (Joan) Turner, all of Lincoln; sister, Mrs. Jack Murphy of Portland, Ore.; three grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Damage Suit Filed In Crash

A $50,000 damage suit was filed in U.S. District Court Tuesday by a Johnson County resident in connection with an Aug. 15, 1966, tractor-automobile accident.

The plaintiff, Alfred J. Sedlacek, alleges that he was operating a tractor and trailer on U.S. 136 about 1.5 miles west of Tecumseh, when a car driven by the defendant, Lawrence E. Plotkin of Arizona, in attempting to pass "did not obtain sufficient clearance" and collided with the trailer.

As a result of the collision, the plaintiff alleges he sustained a blow, wrenching and injury to the neck, lower back and left leg.

According to the petition, the plaintiff, prior to the accident, had a curvature of the spine condition which was not disabling, but as a result of the accident, he alleges permanent disability which impairs and disables him from carrying on his occupation as a farmer.

Boy Scouts Plan Weekend Camp, Survival Training

Survival training and Boy Scout camping skills will be practiced at the "Sno-owl Shiver-ee Camporee" Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Cornhusker Counci Education Center, formery known as Camp Minis Kuya.

The inter-troop activity is expected to draw 350-400 boys. The boys will operate in patrol units and carry equipment sufficient for two or three days in back packs.

Campfire games and field events are included in the camping experience.

Red Cross Says Flights To Biafra To Resume Soon

Geneva (AP) — The International Red Cross Committee said Tuesday it will resume relief flights to Biafra shortly from a new base in Cotonou, Dahomey.

Three weeks ago the newly independent government of Equatorial Guinea banned flights from its island of Fernando Poo after alleging that Biafran troops were using transport fuel flown in by the Red Cross.

The Red Cross said the flights will start "within a few days."

SINATRA'S FATHER BURIED

Frank Sinatra aids his mother as they leave Madonna Church in Fort Lee, N.J., following funeral services for the singer's father, Anthony M. Sinatra, 74, who died Friday in Houston, Tex. Burial took place at Holy Name Cemetery in Fort Lee. At right is Frank Sinatra Jr.

Aid Received To Coordinate State Colleges

Nebraska has received a $50,000 federal grant to aid and abet the development of coordinated future plans for the four state colleges, Dr. John W. Gustad reported Tuesday.

Dr. Gustad, coordinator of state colleges, said the money will be used to train state college faculty members and administrators in methods of making institutional studies and long range plans. Most of the money will be spent to bring in outstanding leaders in institutional research and planning to conduct seminars and short courses.

The grant is for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 and was made by the U.S. Office of Education under provisions of the Educational Professions Development Act.

Dr. Gustad said Nebraska was fortunate to get the grant as application was made after the deadline, and the bid was one of more than 900 submitted, with only a few more than 100 being granted.

Dr. Gustad will direct the program and Kearney State will serve as fiscal agent.

The State Normal Board in November approved Dr. Gustad's proposal to develop a six-year plan for the state colleges.

Four Ex-Members Of 4-H Honored

Four former Nebraska 4-H club members were awarded plaques for their contributions to society following club membership at a banquet Tuesday during the State 4-H Leaders Conference here.

The recipients were honored for exemplifying effective community leadership, public service, service to 4-H club work and success in chosen careers.

Dr. E. F. Frolik, dean of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and Home Economics, presented the plaques to Dr. Robert C. Rosenlof, Kearney; Charles P. Arnot, ABC newsman, New York; Mrs. Dorothy (Fitch) Nicholson, McCook and Mrs. Orley Hughes, Rose.

Dr. Rosenlof graduated Suma Cum Laude from the Nebraska School of Medicine. He had three papers on Leukemia published through Cancer Research. He is a member of the Nebraska Society of Internal Medicine, the Nebraska Diabetes Association and the State Advisory Council on Heart, Cancer and Stroke.

A native Nebraskan, Arnot has covered news events for 33 years beginning at the Fremont Tribune. From there he went to Omaha and New York with United Press International. He has worked 11 years with ABC having recently returned from a two year tour of Rome.

Mrs. Nicholson has been a 4-H leader for the past 17 years and has served on the Red Willow County 4-H Council and the Long Range Planning Committee for youth in Red Willow County. As an officer of the District 8 Mother's Club she received the Clubwoman Ak-Sar-Ben Award.

A 4-H leader for 10 years, Mrs. Hughes completed some 15 projects during her club membership. She is county 4-H council president, past committee chairman of long range youth programs, past Extension Club president and council member, and member of the Extension board. She received the Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbor award and the Tree Farm Award.

More Aid For Cities, Counties Asked

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff Tuesday proposed legislation which, in effect, would increase the amount of state revenue distributed to the cities and the counties.

Carpenter's bill, LB578, would, however, increase the county's share of the state aid program from 20% to 40%, while dropping the city share from 80% to 60%.

Cities and counties now receive state aid totaling about $10 million a year, the amount of revenue which they lost when the 1967 Legislature repealed the intangible property tax, head taxes and the property tax levy on household goods.

LB578 would allocate 20% of all sales tax revenue to the state aid program. On the basis of current revenue, cities and counties would thus receive close to $14 million annually.

Other new tax bills dropped into the legislative hopper would provide sales tax exemptions on purchases of farm machinery and for purchases of electricity, coal, gas, oil and fuel for farm residential use.

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell and nine co-signers sponsored LB589, the farm machinery exemption.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway authored LB586, seeking the exemption on sales and purchases for farm homes. All homeowners, urban and rural, now pay a sales tax on electricity, coal, oil and fuel.

Waldron also proposed two bills which would place the functions of the Game, Forestation and Parks Commission directly under the control of the governor.

One bill would abolish the commission, the other transform it into an advisory board.

Executive authority would rest with a game commissioner appointed by the governor, and serving at his pleasure.

Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln produced his promised bill to change the process of forming a new political party from an organizational convention to a petition method.

Under the bill, LB599, the signatures of at least 1% of the electorate (as measured by the last gubernatorial election) would be required to sign petitions to form a new party and pledge to change their registration to enlist in the new organization.

At least 1% of the electorate from at least one-fifth of the counties (19) must sign petitions to form a statewide party.

Present law provides for organization of a new statewide party by a convention attended by 750 participants.

Among a host of Game Commission bills introduced on the Legislature's 16th day was Sen. Rudolf Kokes' proposal to authorize the Commission to move its headquarters from Lincoln to Ord.

Kokes represents the Ord district.

Eastern Boys School

An Eastern Boys Training School for minor offenders would be established between Lincoln and Omaha under LB601, signed by Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice.

Relatively major offenders would be assigned to the Boys Training School at Kearney.

LB603, another Carstens bill, would establish a Division of Juvenile Delinquency within the Department of Public Institutions.

LB619, signed by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, would eliminate the cash fund of the Department of Aeronautics, transferring such money to the general fund.

Among other new proposals were measures to increase minimum salaries for county officials; provide for a public drawing for limited hunting permits for deer, antelope and wild turkey, and increase the qualifications for the director of public institutions.

The bill total now stands at 623.

Legislative Bills Introduced

By Associated Press

Bills introduced in the Legislature Tuesday:

LB575 (Klaver) — Requiring that a copy of the appraisers' report in eminent domain proceedings be transmitted to the condemnee.

LB576 (Kokes) — Authorizing Game Commission to rent or lease headquarters near Ord and proposing construction of headquarters in or near Ord within two years.

LB577 (Pedersen, Carstens, Luedtke) — Authorizing courts to require traffic law violators to attend driver improvement schools.

LB578 (Carpenter) — Prescribing that state aid to counties and cities shall be 20% of the state sales tax revenue, and increasing the county government's portion from 20 to 40%.

LB579 (Swanson) — Revising educational and experience requirements for the state institutions director.

LB580 (Elrod, Robinson) — Raising the minimum salaries for county officers in all counties except Douglas and Lancaster.

LB581 (Holmquist, Budd) — Requiring public notice of proposed locations of power district pole lines.

LB582 (Holmquist, Budd) — Transferring administration of the securities act of Nebraska from the Banking Department to the Insurance Department.

LB583 (Holmquist, Budd) — Authorizing county boards to serve also as county weed district boards.

LB584 (Proud, Mahoney, Skarda) — Authorizing the shooting of game birds and animals from county roads, but not from state or federal highways.

LB585 (Waldron) — Providing for disqualification of judges when either party files affidavit contending judge cannot hear the case fairly or impartially.

LB586 (Waldron) — Exempting from sales taxes any electricity, coal, gas, fuel oil, diesel fuel, tractor fuel, propane, gasoline and oil and coke purchased for farm residential use.

LB587 (Waldron) — Authorizing Department of Labor to enforce safety rules for railroad employes and adding shelter and welfare to the benefits sought

LB588 (Waldron) — Setting a $500 minum salary of fulltime deputy sheriffs.

LB589 (Whitney, Waldo, Adamson, Clark, Johnson, Kokes, Kennedy, Wallwey, Waldron, Harsh, Wenzlaff) — Exempting farm machine from the sales and use taxes.

LB590 (Keyes) — Providing an exception to limits on appropriations for erection or repair of county buildings.

Downtown Area Foot Patrolmen Increasing May 1

Omaha (AP) — Mayor A. V. Sorensen said more foot patrolmen will be stationed in the downtown area of Omaha beginning about May 1, as a result of increased complaints about shoplifting.

The main obstacle to boosting the number of foot patrolmen is insufficient manpower in the police department, he said.

The police department now has 468 policemen, 97 fewer than authorized when the voters approved hiring of 100 additional officers in December, 1967.

2 Die In Wreck

Damascus (UPI) — Two advisers from Czechoslovakia were killed and nine other persons were injured when two buses collided in northern Syria, officials reported.

Resolution Calls For Probe Of OPPD

A resolution was introduced in the Legislature Tuesday calling for an investigation of the Omaha Public Power District.

The resolution was introduced by State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and referred to the Legislative Council for study.

Carpenter's proposal calls for a five-member legislative committee assisted by the attorney general and the state auditor to conduct the investigation.

One of the reasons for the investigation, the resolution said, is that the construction cost of OPPD's new atomic power plant at Fort Calhoun was originally estimated to be approximately $66 million but has since risen to $98 million.

It said there were also other matters regarding OPPD's "operations and contracts which warrant inquiry . . ."

According to the resolution the committee will investigate "the Omaha Public Power Districts's operations and contracts with relation to increased costs, increases in payment of fees, purchases of fuel, rock, advertising expenses, contracts for coal, raising of executives' salaries prior to retirement, architectural and engineering fees, and insurance, replacement of damaged equipment sustained by contractors, conflicting interests of management and directors involved in issuance of contracts, existence of closed secret meetings in violation of the open public utility meeting statute, issuance of unmarked private district owned vehicles to management, attorney retainer fees and additional legal fee expenditures, lobbying expenditures with utility funds, and political structures involved in the promotion of personnel."

Senators Set Bill Deadline

Nebraska legislators Tuesday decided to set a deadline of next Monday for individual legislators to submit bill proposals to the bill drafter's office.

Next Monday will be the 20th legislative day of the current session. In previous years the legislators have not been able to introduce bills after the 20th legislative day. However, they have extended the time that they had to introduce bills by not holding sessions for several days to enable all senators to get the bills they want to introduce ready.

This year, legislators will be given 24 hours after they receive the bill from the bill drafter's office to introduce it.

The legislators were told the bill drafter's office has received requests for 1,182 bills at the present time, well over the record 947 of two years ago.

The rule was passed 38-1, with State Sen. George Syas of Omaha casting the lone dissenting vote.

THE MOST PHOTOGENIC FACE IN FILMS

Hollywood film companies are placing their bets on a German-born newcomer who has incredible beauty, soft voice, good breeding—and brains besides. The tall, willowy actress on whom leading film companies are placing high bets is 26-year-old Astrid Heeren. Will she make the grade? Don't miss Lloyd Shearer's candid portrait of this relatively unknown ex-model who is determined to prove in upcoming films that her talents are not physical, but cerebral, in PARADE with February 2 issue Sunday Journal and Star.

A PLEA TO RED CHINA: FREE BISHOP WALSH! — Every year for the past 15 years, American and Chinese diplomats have met in Warsaw to help create a dialogue between two world powers that otherwise meet only across the sights of a gun. Ever since Maryknoll Bishop James E. Walsh was imprisoned 10 years ago, the U.S. has pressed for his release at the Warsaw meetings. Parade's Jack Anderson pleads for the release of the 77-year-old prelate at the Feb. 20 Warsaw meeting and reports on the international chess game that still goes on.

Game Unit Shift To Ord Proposed

Sen. Rudolf Kokes of Ord proposed Tuesday that the Nebraska Game Commission's Lincoln operations be transplanted to Ord.

Private Enterprise, the Ord industrial development committee, could build a headquarters complex with revenue bonds and the commission could pay them off in rent.

Kokes tossed a bill in the hopper Tuesday morning, permitting the Game Commission to hold its monthly meetings near Ord.

The statutes are silent on the location of the commission's headquarters, Kokes said.

The complex, which the commission has long sought, could be constructed at a much cheaper cost in Ord than in Lincoln, Kokes said.

"Land is selling for about $200 or $250 an acre around Ord," he said. "Around here it's about $1,000."

Game Commission Director Mel Steen and Ord townspeople support the move, Kokes said.

The commission received legislative approval to issue $2.5 million in revenue bonds in the 1967 session to build the complex on the Lincoln East Campus of the University of Nebraska.

But the State Supreme Court ruled that out by holding the action violated the constitutional debt limit of $100,000.

Legislators OK Bills

Bills passed on final reading in the Legislature Tuesday:

LB107 (Judiciary Committee) — Correcting departmental name in law related to cities and villages. 46-0.

LB108 (Judiciary) — Correcting a toll bridge statute to refer to Omaha instead of Lincoln.

Marijuana Bill Watered Down

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee Tuesday advanced to the floor a bill requiring a mandatory 30-day suspension for a Nebraska college student convicted of possessing marijuana.

The measure is the amended version of Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB8 which would have required permanent expulsion and barred the student from entering any other school in the state.

Opponents had testified the measure in its original form was too severe and cruel.

The amended measure would not bar the expelled student from later seeking readmission, or from gaining admission to another Nebraska college.

In other action, the committee killed 5-3 a bill that would have expanded the liability of parents to include personal injuries intentionally inflicted by their children.

Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha, introducer of LB49, said parents have been statutorily liable since 1951 for property damage "willfully and intentionally" caused by their minor children, and the law should be broadened to include personal injury.

Pedersen said parents of children intentionally injured by other children should at least be able to recover medical costs from parents who are not now liable for personal torts of their children.

But, Lincoln attorney Patrick Healey opposed the bill as imposing "unlimited risk" upon parents for injurious acts of their children — "even beyond their control" and those now insurable.

Also advanced were LB204, allowing a notary public to use a rubber-stamp seal, and LB73, changing from 90 to 85% the amount of wages exempt from garnishment.

Committee Okays 3 Appointments, Holds One

The Unicameral's Committee on Committees voted Tuesday to confirm three appointments made by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann and to hold over consideration of the appointment of State Personnel Director John M. Thornton.

The three persons whose appointments were approved by the committee are Doane College President Philip Heckman's appointment to the Educational Television Commission, Axtell resident Lee Wells' appointment to the Game Commission, and Dale Tintsman of Lincoln, who was reappointed by the governor to the Nebraska Investment Council.

The appointments must be confirmed by the entire Unicameral before they are official.

Committee member Richard Marvel of Hastings said he wanted "to go into further detail" in studying the state's personnel system before the committee approved Thornton's appointment.

"I don't think there's any big hurry on this," he said. "We have some consultants coming in on this and the Hoover Commission had some recommendations which we haven't studied yet."

Thornton earlier told the committee "many changes are necessary to improve the employe force" working for the state.

He said most state employes are receiving less than they would in private industry and said a classification of employes would probably raise the state's salary budget.

Wells was approved by the committee after telling the members the Game Commission should set the policies of the Game Department, not the commission director.

"That would seem to be the excuse for having a commission," he said.

Wells also said he thinks the controversy surrounding the commission has died down.

He was appointed to fill the remaining part of the term held by the late W. C. (Bud) Kemptar of Ravenna.

Dr. Heckman, who also appeared before the board, said it was clear to him several years ago before he came to Nebraska that "Nebraska was way out in front" in the area of educational television.

"We're putting out a good product," he said.

State Sen. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson said he hoped Heckman "will be able to sell educational television to the local schools."

Heckman said there are two reasons local schools have not been quick to implement educational television.

"The main reason is economic," he said. "But also, there was some bad sales a few years ago of ETV in the classroom.

"Students were herded into an auditorium and told to watch a television set," he said. "There was no proper attempt to follow up the television useage or to implement it into the classroom at that time. That's one of the things we have to work on now."

Interest Hike On Late Taxes Advanced

County officials split Tuesday on the desirability of increasing the interest rate on delinquent taxes.

The Legislature's Revenue Committee responded by approving a modified increase, from 7% to 9%. Asked was an increase to 10%.

Arnold Ruhnke, representing the Nebraska Association of County Officials, appeared told the committee his organization supported the 10% figure in Alliance Sen. Leslie A. Stull's LB245.

But a letter was read from Cuming County Treasurer Leo J. Schmitt of West Point, representing the Legislative Committee of the Nebraska County Treasurers Association, reporting opposition to the bill. And Seward County Treasurer John W. Coyle appeared in person to oppose the measure.

Sen. Stull and Ruhnke pointed out that with interest rates climbing, taxpayers could find it cheaper to pay delinquent tax interest than to borrow money for tax payments.

The county treasurer representatives argued, however, that tax collections are so good the Stull bill is not needed. Coyle said the increased interest rate would become "a slap in the face" of taxpayers.

The committee amended the interest rate figure in Sen. Stull's bill from 10 to 9% and sent the measure to the floor on a 7-0 vote.

Also reported out was Kearney Sen. Leslie Robinson's LB277, adding rural and suburban fire protection districts to the governmental subdivisions exempt from sales tax payment on purchases exceeding $100. Robinson said the bill corrects a 1967 oversight.

The Revenue Committee amended LB277 to make it retroactive, thereby permitting the fire districts to claim refund of sales taxes already paid on such purchases.

Water Resources Activity May Move At Slower Pace

Water resources development may proceed at a slower pace in light of the high priorities the federal government is giving the Vietnam war and urban problems, participants in the 10th annual Nebraska Watershed Workshop were told Tuesday.

Dan Jones Jr., director of the State Department of Water Resources, said a slowup was "a possibility to face" as federal funds are channeled into other areas.

Warren Fairchild, executive secretary of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission, pointed out that former President Johnson's budget proposals cut conservation funds.

Depends On Nixon

Much depends on whether President Nixon will be able to carry out his campaign plank of strong support for conservation, many of those meeting at the Nebraska Center seemed to think.

One Nebraska conservationist suggested that it would be "a good test" to see whether the Nixon administration makes an adjustment in Johnson's budget recommendations to fund more conservation work.

Johnson's budget, as it stands now, could cut watershed construction in Nebraska by as much as 50%, according to workshop estimates.

State conservation leaders announced their intention to press for legislation deleting the present state requirement of three separate appraisals before settling on land easement figures.

Appraisal costs, conservationists complained, sometimes amount to more than the land easement cost itself.

Increased construction and land easement costs already are creating financial difficulties enough for the nearly 90 watersheds in Nebraska, it was pointed out.

Research Urged

Jones called for continuing research to solve the problems of deterioration of water quality and organic buildup in watershed dams that threatens the future of recreation.

If these problems are not solved, "We could be facing a calamity," he declared.

Dr. Warren Viessman, director of the University of Nebraska's Water Resources Research Center, outlined a program that he said "must be dynamic, must be flexible and must explore a range of feasible alternatives."

Suburbia Never Is Dull

For many Lincoln residents the January weather has put a damper on their active social lives. But even though meetings and a variety of parties have been cancelled or postponed until the weatherman's disposition improves, no one residing in suburbia could say that life is dull. True, the activity has stayed at home — but the birthday calendar seems to be pretty well filled, and there are guests — and new addresses and such and things —

We'll begin the news this morning with Miss Jacqueline Ann Frazer who is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Frazer of Maple Village, and who arrived on Dec. 29.

Welcoming the brand new debutantalizer into the family circle were Jacqueline's sister, Jill, who is two years old — her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Frank Kohtz of York; her paternal grandparents, John Frazer of Omaha, and Mrs. Estella Frazier of Lincoln.

Mrs. Kohtz visited the 8231 So. Cherrywood Dr. home of Mr. and Mrs. Frazer the first week in January to become acquainted with her new granddaughter. And, just in case young Miss Frazer doesn't keep her parents completely busy, they can always do some packing. That packing isn't really such a silly idea either because they will be moving from their Maple Village residence to a new home at 1742 No. 76 on Saturday, Feb. 1.

On Sunday, Feb. 2, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruyle and their family will entertain at dinner at their Eastborough home. The guests will be Mrs. Ruyle's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bitosh and family of Odell and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bitosh and family, also of Odell.

Joining the group during the afternoon will be members of Mrs. Ruyle's family including Mr. and Mrs. Harold Essman, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Lisec and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lisec.

Family gatherings certainly have been popular in Eastborough recently. Another Eastborough couple, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon N. Patton attended a family get-together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitting on Sunday, Jan. 18. The Lincoln members of the family were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Patton and Mrs. Helen Pierson, and from out-of-town came Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beals of Omaha and Mr. Fitting's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fitting of Marcellus, N.Y.

Although Christmas 1968 is a thing of the past for most of us, Mr. and Mrs. James Logsdon and children, Susan, Larry, Mark, Wayne and Steven, just finished celebrating on Saturday, Jan. 25. Their month late Christmas is easily explained, however, because they waited until they were able to travel to Hastings and share some holiday festivities with Mr. Logsdon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Logsdon from Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. Logsdon and their family went to Grand Island to visit Mrs. Logsdon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert O'Neil, before they returned to their Eastborough home.

Friday, Feb. 7, will be an especially exciting day for Master Ronnie Smith because he will be the guest of honor that evening at a party honoring his first birthday anniversary. The host and hostess will be his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Surcy Smith, and the party will be at their Auburn home. We hasten to add that Master Smith's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Smith and Rhonda, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith of Johnson and young Master Smith's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Keithley, also of Auburn, are included on the invitation list.

Courtesies

February bride-elect, Miss Janet Gail Moran, and her fiance, Capt. William F. Baeder, III, U.S. Army, will share honors Thursday evening at a dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. John Haslam will be host and hostess. The guests have been invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Haslam for the informal buffet honoring Miss Moran and Capt. Baeder, whose marriage will be an event of Saturday, Feb. 1.

Friday evening, the bride-to-be and Capt. Baeder will be honored at a dinner at the University Club to be given by Capt. Baeder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Baeder, II, of Omaha, following the wedding rehearsal at the church.

For the 3 o'clock afternoon ceremony, to be solemnized at St. Teresa's Church, Miss Moran has chosen Miss Nancy Nix as her maid of honor. Her bridesmaids will be Miss Kristi Sather of Macomb, Ill., and Miss Jan McGill of Davey. Mrs. David Beeson, Priest River, Idaho, will be the bridesmatron.

Joel Bergquist will serve Mr. Baeder as best man, and the groomsmen will be Dr. Robert Galloway of Chadron, Dr. James Frerichs, Kearney, and James Moran, brother of the bride.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Moran and a coed at the University of Nebraska, the bride-elect has been honored at numerous courtesies. One of the more recent parties was the dinner given by Dr. and Mrs. Earl Lampshire who entertained members of the family at their home. Coming from out of town for the courtesy was Miss Moran's grandmother, Mrs. Hannah Johnson of Sioux Falls, S.D.

Miss Moran's fiance, who currently is stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky., is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry.

League Of Women Voters Celebrates Half-Century Of Service To Citizens

National president of the League of Women Voters, which this year will mark its 50th anniversary, is Mrs. Bruce B. Benson of Amherst, Mass., wife of a physics professor at Amherst College.

A graduate of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., from which she also received her Masters degree in history with the liberal movement in politics as her field, Mrs. Benson became interested in the vital role of the individual citizen in self-government during the time of the Sen. Joseph McCarthy hearings.

"I realized that if citizens don't take part in their government all kinds of things can happen," she says. "I became interested in how a democracy operates and, because the league works on concrete issues of government which have to be solved, I became active in the local group — the league is the only one I know of devoted to the citizen's basic role in self-government."

A nonpartisan organization which aims to encourage the informed and active participation of all citizens in government and politics, the league came into being in 1920 — the same year as did women's suffrage.

With a membership of 150,000 in more than 1,250 local leagues, the organization's work is twofold: a voters service which includes the distribution of non-partisan information on candidates and issues, and campaigns to encourage registration and voting; and second, a program which features governmental issues selected by the members for study and action.

The league's position on issues is arrived at by consensus in a long-drawn-out process which starts at the local level with members' discussions and ends when the national group analyzes answers to questionnaires on the issues sent to local groups.

For a number of years, the league has favored apportionment based on population, and a brand new item for study is the nation's electoral college and possibilities for revising the election system.

Fortunately for Mrs. Benson, whose two-year term of office entails traveling extensively for speaking engagements as well as three days a week at the league's Washington, D.C. headquarters, her husband is equally interested in the activities of the Women Voters. "He gets as worked up as I do," she says, "and he is a tremendous help and source of strength."

The energetic Mrs. Benson isn't certain exactly what she'll do when her term is over, but is sure she'll follow some line of work connected with politics or government.

'Twas A Fun Evening—Before And After

When Mari Jo Cook invited a group of her East High School Pep Club friends for a pre-game supper at her home on Saturday evening it was just the beginning of an exciting evening for East High. The East basketball team, as you know, won its game with North Platte.

The party hostess invited her guests for a 5 o'clock supper, and after food and conversation they hurried off to join other Pep Club members at the game.

It's Fashion Time In Paris

It may be January in Nebraska but it's April in Paris as far as Yves Saint Laurent is concerned. He showed his wares to fashion editors on Monday of this week, and here is Lucie Niel, AP Fashion writer to tell us about it.

Paris — Yves Saint Laurent dramatically dropped hemlines to midcalf in topcoats made of menswear woolens in his spring and summer fashion collection unveiled Monday.

He also elongates cardigan tunics and the tops of his pant suits, tailoring them with charm and belting them neatly.

Many in the overflow audience were swooning over the new models. Yves has several exclusive geometrical prints. They feature dots forming a checkboard effect alternating with a solid square. He does the same in coin dots and polka dots or checks and, strangely enough, adds a striped scarf.

These prints are used in pajamas for evening, in tunic or cardigan pants suits sometimes topped by a three-quarter matching summer coat. Many tops are in the safari and bush-jacket mode, others are inspired by a well-known military tunic with shoulder tabs and brights buttons. Khaki is a favorite color and putty, beige and coffee brown vie with navy and a little black.

The exclusive printed crepes that also include broken chevrons and a one-color broken stripes appear in floor-length shirtwaist dresses with pleated skirt, very much in the Quaker mood. White touches, such as a demure starched turndown collar and an ascot tie also lend a pioneer look.

A second important trend is the gypsy in the most colorful patchwork satin skirts, kerchief flying ribbons and hair braided with colored ribbon. Even the bride is a Gypsy and she carries a huge sheaf of spring flowers.

He has fun with crystal-beaded lampshade fringe over beaded prints, and printed silk fringe.

Yves does his dinner dresses in short lengths in six tiers of printed fringe and shows them in a pastel range. They're new and easy on the American manufacturer.

The see-through this season, is limited to two models. One, a transparent sheer chiffon black shirt, has the front camouflaged in black ostrich. The second, in sheer navy blue chiffon, has a swathed turban attached to the dress. It was floor length and the model wore no bra.

He can be ladylike when he chooses and show a group of dreamy chiffons on trailing lines in oyster gray, and black. The black one has a lei of large white cabbage roses worn like a decoration ribbon.

Party Honors February Bride-To-Be

Concluding the series of bridal courtesies honoring Miss Kathleen Ann Arrigo preceding her marriage to Jerry Merritt on Saturday, Feb. 1, was the party for which Mrs. John Schmidt was hostess last Sunday evening.

During the party, a linen shower was presented to the bride-to-be, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam J Arrigo.

Book Review

A review of the book, "Mother At The Wheel," by Norgaard, was presented by Mrs. Richard Marvel at the Monday afternoon program of the Nebraska Unicameral Ladies Club.

Mrs. Marvel and Mrs. Herbert Duis were hostesses to the group at the Hotel Cornhusker, and guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Arnold Ruhnke, Mrs. Dean Marcy and Mrs. George A. Knight.

Next Monday, the group will meet at 12:30 o'clock at the Hotel Cornhusker with Mrs. C. W. Holmquist and Mrs. Thome Johnson as hostesses.

Hostess

The members of the Nebraska Legislative Ladies League will be the guests of Mrs. Merk Hobson at her home, 41 The Knolls, on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. William Swanson will serve as chairman of the hostess committee, and a program of piano music will be presented by Audin Ravnan, professor of music at the University of Nebraska.

Avoid Calorie Pitfalls

Josephine Lowman

This is a zippy season for zippy people who have zippy ideas, like looking from five to ten years younger just eight short weeks from now. This is entirely possible, and thousands of women are now doing something about it instead of just wishing.

Eight weeks is long enough to lose from 15 to 20 pounds, banish measurements which are out of proportion, and improve your complexion, hair and posture. That adds up to a big bonus in beauty.

Those of you who started following my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan at the beginning are now at the half-way mark. This is a good time, as it is at mid-life, to take an objective view of the past. Have you accomplished as much as you wanted to and expected to by now? If not, why not?

Maybe you had complications at home. If so, begin at the beginning and start all over again. Maybe you failed to stick to your diet as you meant to. Most women have a little difficulty at first. After two weeks one will not want as much food and the rich foods begin to pall. If you had trouble controlling your diet, try to figure out at what times you broke over.

Was it when you were worried or upset for some reason?

Did you get along beautifully except at the evening meal when the family was present? If this is true give up their companionship at dinner for a short time and eat alone.

Maybe you break over only on weekends. Once you recognize this fact you can brace yourself against it.

Perhaps you eat from sheer boredom. Keep busy. If you crave some rich item put on your coat and go for a brisk walk or take mat exercises at home. Much overweight is due to boredom. Add interests to your life. If you have too much leisure become dedicated to some volunteer work which appeals to you.

If watching TV is your downfall sip a low calorie soft drink or munch on celery sticks, or both. You can put a little seasoned salt on carrot or celery curls.

Most of you who have been following Bip will have lost from 8 to 10 pounds by now. Some will have lost more. However if you haven't lost as much as you wanted to do not be discouraged. Individuals lose at different rates. Just stay in there dieting and exercising. The battle is half won for the majority of you. Those who started late are not yet at the midway point.

If any of you missed the first part of this series or would like to have the complete course, you may want my "Bip Kit." This includes all necessary direction, exercises, a calorie chart, additional reducing menus for 15 days and a unique wall chart on which you can plot your progress and see your beauty line rise as your weight line drops. If you want the Kit send 25 cents, plus 15 cents for postage and handling, and your printed name and address to Josephine Lowman in care of the Lincoln Star.

The bidding:

Opening lead — eight of clubs.

The most usual way of categorizing a poor bridge player is to say he plays so badly that he even trumps his partner's ace. But, despite the stigma generally associated with such a play, there are times when trumping partner's ace is absolutely essential if the best result is to be achieved.

Consider this hand where South became declarer at three spades on the sequence shown. North's raise to three was distinctly out of order, since he was in effect punishing his partner for competing against a part score. South had previously limited his strength by simply overcalling with one spade, and he could scarcely have the values required for game opposite North's mediocre hand.

West led his singleton club and East started the defense off on the right foot when he won dummy's jack with the king and returned a trump.

Declarer won in dummy with the ten and led the queen of clubs, on which East played the ace, and it was at this point that West trumped his partner's ace and led a second round of trumps.

As a result, South went down one. He could still ruff a club in dummy, but there was no way for him to avoid the loss of another club trick. All told, declarer lost three clubs, a heart and a diamond.

Had West neglected to ruff his partner's ace of clubs, South would have made the contract. He would have ruffed two clubs in dummy instead of one, and this would have brought him to nine tricks.

The hand illustrates the high importance of good defense. All too often a declarer is permitted to go peacefully about his business and achieve what appears to be a normal result. East's trump shift at trick two was perhaps not too difficult, but West's ruff of his partner's ace indicated a keen sense of appreciation of the drastic step necessary to defeat the contract.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am a minister who has gotten a lot of good ideas for my sermons from your column, but I must disagree with you. A woman wrote that she had "fallen in love" with her pastor, and couldn't keep from thinking some thoughts she shouldn't entertain while sitting in church. You advised her to transfer to a sister congregation without telling her pastor the reason.

Abby, we clergymen are aware that some of our parishioners do fall in love with us, and we are trained to cope with that situation. It happened to me, and with the help of a psychiatrist I was able to set the lady straight.

I would have suggested that the woman confess to her pastor how she feels about him. Then I would recommend that she see a psychiatrist, and together they can work her problem through. If she follows your advice and transfers to another congregation she will still have the same feeling.

NO NAME, PLS.

DEAR NO NAME: Unfortunately not every clergyman is trained to cope with the above situation. Neither would every woman who "falls in love with her pastor" agree to confess her feelings to him, then consult a psychiatrist and "work her problem through."

I still think the lady would do well to follow my advice.

DEAR ABBY: I have been criticized for giving a relative a vacuum cleaner for a wedding present. Will you please tell me what is wrong with such a gift? Granted it is not as glamorous as silver or crystal, but in my opinion it is a lot more useful for a newly wedded couple who are just starting out in housekeeping.

I would like your opinion IN PRINT, please, but withhold my name.

PRACTICAL

DEAR PRACTICAL: Good for you! It's good to know there are practical folks like yourself who refuse to get sucked into giving gifts that are more ornamental than useful.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merril advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion-beautifying cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a supply.

Wants Shot At Drake

When Tony Drake, a two-time national Golden Gloves contender, steps on the scales this afternoon at weigh-in ceremonies for the Southeast District Golden Gloves, the needle on those scales will be watched by many eyes.

The 139-pound fighters will be hoping it registers above that figure. The 147-pound fighters will be hoping it stays below 139.

That is except for one 147-pounder from Fairbury, who hopes the needle puts Drake into his class.

"I want to fight him," says Bill Edwards, the talkative Fairbury fighter who has been referred to as "the white man's Cassius Clay."

"Getting a chance to fight him is what I've been working for all season and I'll be very disappointed if we don't wind up in the same weight class.

"If we aren't in the same weight class, I still want to fight him in an exhibition except it won't be an exhibition because I'll be trying to whip him."

Cocky? So Was Namath

If Edwards' statements make him sound cocky, boxing fans are reminded that Joe Namath sounded the same way before he carried out his thoughts with action in the Super Bowl.

And while in Golden Gloves circles, Edwards may not carry as impressive credentials as does Drake, his fighting record puts him 97 notches above the average amateur boxer.

Edwards has lost only six of 148 amateur fights, most of them coming during a four-year stint in the Marines that included a hitch in Vietnam. He has yet to be knocked down in those 148 bouts.

He was the Southeast District 147-pound champion before joining the Marines and missed going to the national tourney by a split decision in Omaha.

After finishing second in the all-Navy championships at San Diego, his boxing efforts were slowed by wounds suffered in Vietnam. He resumed his boxing after returning to the United States.

If Edwards meets Drake, he'll be going against a fighter who reached the quarter-finals in the national Golden Gloves tourney one year and lost a decision in the finals the following year.

Pro Career May Hinge

One of Edwards' motives in wanting a shot at Drake is a possible venture into the pro ranks for the loquacious, smiling Fairburian.

"I may want to turn pro if I'm good enough to beat Drake," he says. "That's one reason I want to fight him. If I can't beat him, I have no business thinking about fighting professional.

"But I think I can beat him. I think my hands are just as fast as his and I think I can hit a little harder."

Whatever happens Edwards indicates this likely will be his last year as an amateur.

"Once you've had as many fights as I have had, I think it discourages younger fellows from fighting because they don't want to get in the ring with someone who has had 100 or so fights," he explains.

The possibility of a Drake-Edwards match not only adds a bit of excitement to the Wednesday and Thursday night program at Pershing Auditorium, but it also makes today's 3 p.m. weigh-ins more than a ho-hum affair.

Meet Shapes Up As Tight Team Battle

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

One of the tightest battles in years for the team championship shapes up in the Southeast District Golden Gloves Tournament, set for tonight and Thursday night at Pershing Auditorium.

Roberts Dairy, coached by Larry Emery, El Rancho, coached by Ted White, and Fairbury, led by Bill Edwards, all figure to make strong bids for the team crown, an honor that sends the winning coach to Omaha as coach of the Southeast District team in the Midwest Golden Gloves Tournament.

Emery has been that winning coach in all but one of the some 15 years he has been training amateur fighters.

His bid for another title will be led by former national runner-up Tony Drake, who will come into the ring in either the 139 or 147-pound division.

Aside from Drake, this year's Roberts Dairy team is probably the most inexperienced group Emery has had since he started coaching.

But while it likely is the most inexperienced, it also is likely the largest team Emery has had with nearly 20 fighters expected to go into the ring wearing the green and white Roberts Dairy trunks.

Topping the list of some 10 fighters from the El Rancho stable are 1968 champions Dave Oldfield and Randy Nelsen with Oldfield moving up from the 112-pound title he won a year ago to compete this year at 125 or 132 and with Nelsen going in at 156 or 165 pounds.

Fairbury is being trained this year by Edwards, who also is their leading hope for a championship. But the talkative 147-pounder could find himself in the same weight class with Drake.

While the Fairbury team has little experience, Lou Holloway, the retired police chief who has been bringing the team to Lincoln for years, says they're ready to fight.

"This is a good team we're bringing," he says. "They're in shape and they're ready to fight. They work hard at it in training."

In addition to Roberts, El Rancho and Fairbury, three smaller teams could have something to say about which of the three bigger stables wins the team crown.

Lincoln's Mike Larchick has possible champions in Ron Williamsen at 165 pounds and Doc Moore at 178.

Two football players from Dana College at Blair, Dick Tobein at 165 and Bill Schabel at 178 or heavyweight, also are entered.

Falls City may also have a few entries in the tourney.

The first bout each night in the Lincoln Master Barbers Association-sponsored tournament will get under way at 8 p.m.

BILLS' CHOICE NO SURPRISE

Fords Face Stiff Test At Daytona

Daytona Beach, Fla. (AP) — Ford's fleet GT40 auto racing team from England launches the 1969 defense of its world championship Saturday in the 24 Hours of Daytona, longest distance test in the Western Hemisphere.

Again, the big challenge to Ford supremacy will come from the rugged Porsches of Germany, which carried the 1968 battle down to the wire before being edged out in the last of the year's 10 races, the 24 Hours of Lemans in France.

Jackie Ickx, the young Belgian star who scored three international victories for Ford last year, will be a popular favorite to win the long grind, starting at 2 p.m., CST, over the 3.81-mile road-track course at Daytona International Speedway.

Ickx will share wheel time in one of the two GT40s with Jackie Oliver of England. The other will be driven by David Hobbs and Mike Hailwood of Britain.

Arrayed against them will be a pack of five cars from the Porsche factory-rugged, three-liter powerhouses capable of mopping up the field if trouble befalls the Fords.

Bill France, president of the Speedway, said information from the pits indicated that as many as 22 entries were capable of winning. But it would come as a distinct surprise if anything but a Ford or a Porsche finished in the top five.

Aided by a new rule which limited prototypes to three-liter engine size — and sidelined the famed 4.5 liter Ferraris from Italy — Porsche's old reliable 2.2 liter machines swept to a 1-2-3 victory at Daytona last year.

They followed up with a roaring 1-2 triumph at Sebring but Ford, competing in a sports production class which allows five liters, gradually whittled away at the lead as Porsche switched in mid-season to a new three-liter power plant.

Crashing into the lead at Lemans, Ford wound up the year with 44 points. Porsche had 42.5 and no other manufacturer was anywhere near.

A near threat is coming from France. A Matra prototype is entered and Claude LeGuezec, a factory representative, said flatly it was going after the world title this year.

Simpson First In Grid Draft

. . . TWO NEBRASKANS TABBED

New York (AP) — Southern California's O. J. Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner who reportedly wants $600,000 to sign, was the No. 1 pick by the Buffalo Bills Tuesday in the combined pro football draft.

The 26 American and National League teams spent 12 hours. 11 minutes drafting 182 players in seven rounds before retiring for the night. They plan to go through 10 more rounds Wednesday before completing the draft.

Buffalo, the AFL cellar team whose 1-12-1 record was the worst in the combined standings, nudged out Atlanta and Philadelphia for the first draft which is based on the inverse order of the clubs' 1968 won-lost percentages.

The selection of Marty Domres, Columbia's 6-foot-4 quarterback, by San Diego of the AFL, using Denver's first-round pick from a trade, and the drafting of Calvin Hill, Yale fullback, by the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL were major surprises in the first round. Ivy League players seldom find favor with pro scouts. The last first-round pick from the league was believed to have been Chuck Bednarik of Penn by Philadelphia in 1949.

Ron Sayers, a running back from the University of Nebraska at Omaha and brother of Chicago Bears' star Gale Sayers, was the first Nebraska college football player to be selected after three rounds. The San Diego Chargers tabbed the 215-pound Sayers in the third round.

The Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League selected Nebraska's Jim Hawkins, a defensive back, in the seventh round.

Two Big Eight players, Missouri defensive back Roger Wehrli and Oklahoma flanker Eddie Hinton, were first-round draft choices. Wehrli went to the St. Louis Cardinals and Hinton to the Baltimore Colts.

Kansas quarterback Bob Douglass went to the Chicago Bears in the second round, while another Big Eight gridder selected in that round was Mike Montler, offensive tackle from Colorado, who went to the Boston Patriots.

Three more Big Eight performers were drafted in the third round when the Pittsburgh Steelers got Jon Kolb, Oklahoma State center; the New York Giants picked Vernon Vanoy, Kansas defensive end, and St. Louis added defensive back Terry Brown of Oklahoma State.

Five more Big Eight players gave the conference a total of 13 men drafted through seven rounds on Tuesday's first day of selections.

In the fourth round, Mike Schnitker of Colorado went to Denver and John Zook of Kansas to the Los Angeles Rams. In the fifth round, Jim Anderson of Missouri went to Philadelphia, Keith Christensen of Kansas to New Orleans and Cornelius Davis of Kansas State to Minnesota.

In sharp contrast with last year's draft when the first seven men, and eight of the first 10 were linemen, there were only two interior linemen in the first 10 selected. Ron Yary of Southern California was the first choice of a year ago.

Atlanta of the NFL took George Kunz, the 6-foot-5, 240-pound offensive tackle from Notre Dame, as No. 2 in the first round and Pittsburgh of the NFL selected Joe Greene, a 6-foot-4, 274-pound defensive tackle from North Texas State, as No. 4 in the first round.

Leroy Keyes, Purdue's running back-flanker defensive back, who was runnerup to Simpson in the Heisman voting, was the No. 3 selection in the opening round. He went to the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL.

JIM HAWKINS

Terry Hanratty, Notre Dame's All-American quarterback who was sidelined by a knee injury in the final games, was passed over in the first round. Hanratty, third in the Heisman balloting, finally went as No. 30, the second-round pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

It was a surprise to many that Greg Cook, University of Cincinnati quarterback, and Domres went before Hanratty. Cook, the NCAA major college leader in total offense and second leading passer, was nabbed by his home team, the Cincinnati Bengals of the AFL. San Diego got Domres on the first-round rights it acquired from Denver in a trade for quarterback Steve Tensi.

Boston of the AFL in the process of hiring a coach to succeed Mike Holovak, took Florida State's able receiver, Ron Sellers, in the first round. The All-American end led the nation's major colleges with 86 receptions and set a career record with 4,598 yards.

San Francisco of the NFL picking seventh with the rights picked up from New Orleans with Kevin Hardy in the Dave Parks deal, snatched Ted Kwalick, Penn State's fine 6-4, 230-pound tight end. With John David Crow announcing his retirement, Kwalick should fit into the pickure quickly with the 49ers. San Francisco later selected Gene Washington, Stanford flanker, as its own first-round pick.

No Pact Trouble Expected By O.J.

San Francisco (AP) — O. J. Simpson, first choice in Tuesday's professional football draft, doesn't expect any contract trouble with the Buffalo Bills.

"They want to get this settled quickly, and that is how I feel too," Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner, said of his contacts with the American Football League

The Bills, whose 1-12-1 record in 1968 was the worst in pro ball, surprised nobody in selecting Simpson to kick off the draft in New York.

Simpson said in an interview the $600,000 he is reportedly demanding is news to him.

"I haven't heard of that particular figure and I don't believe that it is it," said Simpson. "That's the first time I heard such a figure mentioned."

When asked if he was seeking more money than that, Simpson replied: "I'd rather not say."

Simpson, who broke most rushing records at Southern California, said he is being represented by attorney Dave Lockton, who is negotiating directly with the Bills.

His adviser is Chuck Barnes of Sports Headliners, a group which handles financial enterprises for several athletes.

In view of these negotiations and a long talk he has already had with Bills' coach John Rauch, Simpson said he foresees "no long delay in coming to terms."

He said Rauch "wanted to talk football right away. His idea is to get together with me right away to go over plans for next year.

"He won't talk business, just football," said Simpson. "I know this is important because football systems are different."

'Steals' Please Dallas

. . . COWBOYS GET FLOWERS, HILL

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — The elated Dallas Cowboys "stole" what they consider two possible super stars in Tuesday's pro football draft when they picked swift running back Calvin Hill of Yale and hurdles champion Richmond Flowers of Tennessee.

"Hill is a great athlete, he has a chance to be a super star," said Cowboy personnel director Gil Brandt. "We were surprised he was still available."

The 6-foot-3, 230-pound Hill can run the 40-yard dash — the time used by professional scouts to measure a player's explosiveness — in an excellent 4.6 seconds. He was drafted by Dallas in the first round in the 24th position.

Dallas coach Tom Landry said he felt some clubs were afraid of taking a chance on him because Hill played in the Ivy League.

"If he had played in just one post-season all-star game we wouldn't have had a chance at him," said Landry. "He looks impressive just standing around. He has great explosiveness and great hands.

"Hill scored 15 touchdowns, caught 26 passes and threw four touchdown passes last season.

"I would like to become a minister after I retire from professional football," said Hill. "But I'm sure happy to be picked by Dallas. I'll play anywhere they want me to play but center."

Although Dallas is knee-deep in receivers, it immediately snapped up Flowers in the second round.

"If Flowers hits, he will be another Lance Alworth of San Diego in the American Football League because he can really turn the speed on," said Landry.

The 6-foot, 188-pounder can run the 40-yard dash in an eye-popping 4.3 seconds.

"Dallas is where I wanted to go but I didn't think they wanted me with all their receivers," said Flowers.

Elmwood, Sterling Still Head 'D' Field

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Elmwood and Sterling, both of whom cannot make the state tournament, continue to run one-two in the Class D ratings this week.

The two highly-regarded small school powers, should they win their own district tournaments at the end of the regular season campaign, would meet in an area playoff for a single berth for the big show to be held in Lincoln in March.

Elmwood, unbeaten in 12 starts, handed Sterling its only defeat of the year by a 73-69 count when they tangled for the Mudecas Conference title.

After the two leaders major changes occur. Clarks was third and Gresham fourth a week ago. Both drop after suffering their first losses of the season. Clarks was clipped by Palmer, a team the Bombers had beaten by 25 points in an earlier encounter, while Gresham was edged by a single point, 46-45, by Bradshaw, who now makes the top ten.

Gaining ground at the expense of these two are Wolbach, Lexington St. Ann and Loomis. The Lexington club makes the biggest jump on the basis of a big win over previously unbeaten and fifth-rated Class C Cambridge.

Bradshaw's entrance into the select group bumps Spalding Academy to the sidelines for the time being, although it should be noted that Spalding Academy's loss over the past weekend to Class C Elgin Pope John came while the Shamrocks were without the services of star center Jim Naughtin, out with a sprained ankle.

Chappell and Elba round out the top ten, which is based on games played through last Saturday night.

A last minute switch could certainly be made. Monday night Paxton, mentioned in the comment column as one who is threatening the leaders, carried out that threat. Paxton dumped Chappell, 56-49, in the South Platte Valley tournament at Paxton. This will obviously be reflected in next week's ratings, when the results of this week's action are taken into account.

Knights At Home For 3 In A Row

Omaha — The Omaha Knights, winners of their last five games, will open a three-game homestand at the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum tonight.

The Knights will face Amarillo at 8 p.m. tonight, Fort Worth at 8 p.m. Saturday and Memphis at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The Knights are tied with Tulsa for first place in the Northern Division of the Central Professional Hockey League.

Class D

1—Elmwood (12-0)
2—Sterling (12-1)
3—Wolbach (10-2)
4—Lexington St. Ann (12-2)
5—Loomis (12-1)
6—Clarks (10-1)
7—Bradshaw (10-1)
8—Gresham (10-1)
9—Chappell (9-2)
10—Elba (7-0)

Comment—Elmwood and Sterling continue to run one-two, but Clarks and Gresham drop after suffering initial losses. Bradshaw enters the list, Spalding Academy falls out, although the latter played without ace center Jim Naughtin in losing its second game. McCook Red Willow, Sumner and Paxton pose the greatest challenge to the leaders.

. . . HAASE'S 41 SETS RECORD

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

DALE HAASE

The biggest win of the week in Nebraska high school basketball in any division came when Class C Hebron smothered a good Class B Superior quintet, 74-46, Friday night.

Returning all-state center Dale Haase, who gained the same kind of honors this fall in football, swished the nets for 41 points to lead the way and earn himself the Player of the Week award.

The 41-point production set a new all-time Hebron school record. "Dale got off to a good start this winter," coach Chuck Stevenson said, "but during the Christmas holidays he had several bad games."

It was during that period, when he scored just nine in one game, 11 in another, that Hebron suffered its only loss of the year to Deshler.

"Most opponents aim their defense at him," Stevenson said, "but he's a good team man as evidenced by the fact that he leads us in assists."

In the Superior win, Hebron connected on 63 per cent of its shots. "We don't 'run and gun', but rather play for the good shot," the first-year Hebron coach noted, "and Dale was really great that night. He hit 15 of 17 shots he took."

Others with outstanding weekend games who deserve special recognition include:

Allen Watsek, Humboldt — This senior forward had a hot hand against Lewiston Saturday night, pumping in 30 points to lead his club to a 71-61 win.

Mike Rol, Hastings — His record 32 points against Kearney, including a final bucket with 17 seconds left in overtime, saved the Tigers. Rol also pulled down 19 important rebounds.

Jack Becwar, Exeter — Canned 25 points to pace his club to a 66-52 victory over a good Davenport team.

Bob Dobbs, Louisville — Hard work on the boards and 21 points brought Louisville from a four point deficit to a winning eight point margin over Central Friday night.

Bob Hall, Cedar Bluffs — His 30-point, 20-rebound night against Snyder was the difference in an 82-71 win.

Doane Blasts Omaha, 95-75

Crete (AP) — The Doane College Tigers came out of a free-swinging basketball game here Tuesday night with a 95-75 victory over the University of Nebraska at Omaha in a contest that saw two players ejected for fighting.

Jim Etter of UNO and Terry Egger of Doane were given the boot after engaging in fisticuffs with about three minutes left in the game.

Doane took command of nearly all elements of the game early and pulled to a 43-32 lead at the half.

Paced by Leslie Grant and his 27 points, the Tigers hit for 52 per cent from the field, while the Omahans were able to connect on only 33 per cent.

The Tigers outrebounded the Indians 53-34, with Grant grabbing 19.

Doane's Jackie Owen had his best effort of the season with 25 points while Chris Rosenstock, in his first starting job, added 12 more for the Tigers, who now stand 7-8 in their fight for an independent's berth in the district NAIA playoffs.

UNO	32	43—75
Doane	43	52—95

UNO — Mackey 11, Todd 11, A. Allen 11, D. Allen 11, James 11, Kupcho 7, Sieczkowski 6, Etter 6, Stevens 1.
Doane — Grant 27, Owen 25, Egger 13, Lee 12, Rosenstock 12, Mayers 3, Fraction 2, Kruszka 1.

Concordia Drops 17th In Row, 67-66

Blair (AP) — Rick Jahnke tipped in a basket with two seconds left here Tuesday night to give Dana College a 67-66 basketball victory over Concordia.

It was the 17th loss in a row this season for Concordia, which had led all the way to the final seconds.

In addition to scoring the winning basket, Jahnke tallied all of his six points in the final three minutes.

John Biddle led the winners' scoring with 17 points. He also snatched 19 rebounds.

Kent Berkeland with 18 was high for Concordia.

Concordia	37	29—66
Dana	29	38—67

Concordia — Nabor 6, Giesselmann 2, Greve 5, Schrador 14, Berkeland 18, Jones 2, Raabe 19.
Dana — Larsen 10, Jahnke 6, Peterson 9, Mahlman 8, Biddle 17, Busse 2, Stoll 2, Beatty 13.

Fairbury Whips Metropolitan Club

Fairbury (AP) —Fairbury Junior College fashioned a 60-45 halftime advantage and withstood a Metropolitan JC rally to stop the Kansas City, Mo., team, 109-103, in an Interstate Conference basketball game Tuesday night.

Ernie Britt scored 37 points and pulled down 25 rebounds for the Fairbury team, now 6-2 in the conference and 6-7 overall. Bob Tllison of Metropolitan led all scorers with 39.

ABA's West '5' Get 133-127 Win

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — A West team that had trouble finding the range all evening staved off a last minute rally by the East Tuesday night to win the second annual American Basketball Association All-Star game, 133-127.

The West led most of the way and enjoyed a 16-point lead with only 4:30 left in the game. But, with one minute to play, the West was ahead by only three points.

John Beasley of Dallas, voted the most valuable player in the game, and Red Robbins of New Orleans led the West scoring attack with 19 points each.

Decatur Quintet Blanked In First Three Quarters

Beemer — The Homer High School basketball team must have set some kind of record Tuesday night in the opening round of the Logan Valley Conference tournament as they shut out Decatur for the first three quarters of a 29-10 victory.

Decatur came out in a stall after Homer scored first and in the first half missed both shots it tried from the floor, having one blocked, and all five foul shots it attempted. Homer got the rebounds of all those missed shots, plus five steals for an 8-0 lead at the quarter and 14-0 halftime margin.

In the third quarter, Decatur missed six more shots from the field and Homer scored six points of its own for a 20-0 lead.

Graebner, Cox Fill Omaha Semifinals

. . . LOCAL FAVORITE BEATEN

Omaha (AP) — Clark Graebner of New York and Mark Cox of England filled out the semifinals in the Omaha Indoor International Indoor Tennis Tournament Tuesday night by defeating a home town favorite and a contender from Los Angeles.

Graebner, using a strong serve, stopped Bill Brown of Omaha 6-2, 6-4. Cox was extended by Tom Edlefsen of Los Angeles, 7-5, 7-5.

Brown, former Notre Dame captain and an Omaha school teacher, played with blistered feet and blisters on his right hand.

Cox broke Edlefsen's serve in the 11th game of both sets, then won on his own offerings.

In Wednesday's semifinals, Cox, topseeded foreign entry, will meet Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., No. 2-seeded United States participant. Graebner will play Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico.

Thomaz Koch of Brazil and Torben Ulrich of Denmark finally advanced to the doubles semifinals Tuesday when they won a match that started Monday night.

The edged Istvan Gulyas of Hungary and Zelkko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, 25-23, 7-9, 7-5.

In other quarterfinals doubles matches, Cox and Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., defeated Loyo-Mayo and Marcello Lara of Mexico, 7-5, 6-2, and top-seeded Richey and Edlefsen stopped Jan Kodes and Jan Kukal of Czechoslovakia, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2.

Semifinals parings are Richey-Edlefsen vs. Koch-Ulrich and McManus-Cox vs. Graebner and Herb Fitzgibbon of New York.

Loyo-Mayo and Cox are the last of five left-handers in the field of 16 that started the tournament.

Blue Chips Climb In Mixed Market

New York (AP) — The stock market groped its way through another irregular session Tuesday. Late gains by some blue chips firmed the averages.

Volume was a fairly active 12.07 million shares for a four-hour session and compared with 11.02 million Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average, after losing more than a point in midsession, closed with a gain of .93 at 938.40.

The market was mixed from the start and remained that way despite some good earnings reports by leading corporations.

Although most of Wall Street seemed convinced that the Nixon administration would follow a moderate course in its economic policy, there was a tendency to "watch and wait" pending clarification of the market's trend in the intermediate term.

Firming the averages in late dealings, American Tobacco rose 2 to 39⅜ after reporting higher earnings and an increased dividend; while U.S. Steel gained 1¼ at 46, making a new 1968-69 high. This inspired some other buying late in the day. The steel industry has reported a fourth straight week of increased output.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .1 to 357.3, with industrials up .4, rails off .7, and utilities up .7.

Of 1,591 issues traded, 655 rose, and 714 fell. New highs for 1968-69 totaled 29 and new lows 16.

Seven of the 15 most-active stocks rose, and 8 fell.

Marcor preferred A was the most-active stock, up ¼ at 57½ on 200,100 shares. The lion's share of its turnover came in a single block of 194,900 shares traded at 56.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 8.22 million shares compared with 6.93 million Monday. The exchange's index rose 2 cents to $32.64.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Talk Of Living In New Era Tends To Delude Investors

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Dollar Averaging

Each new crop of speculators and investors tends to be deluded by talk that they are in a new era.

Thus believers in a non-stop boom speciously argue that stocks can't go down in price because of the persistent absorption of the limited supply of shares by institutional investors. But the vicissitudes of price fluctuations indicate that over the short run even the professional fund managers at times think in herds and react in a similar manner at particular times. Professional investors can influence fluctuations by temporarily withholding bids when they think the investment dollar will buy more at a later date.

Speculating in prices is not up the alley of the harried business executive or professional man, who should pursue dollar averaging rather than undertake to guess the near-term trend. Dollar averaging entails placing precisely the same number of dollars in exactly the same securities at stated intervals. The success of dollar averaging depends on initial selection of securities which appear to have a future. Investing, like art, is a process of selection and rejection.

Q. — A reader in Norwich, Conn. has been advised to switch from one load fund to another by an eager beaver salesman. He seeks advice as to what to do, and wants to know whether there are any mutual funds "that could be bought without the intervention of a salesman." He adds: "Please recommend funds with a guaranteed performance with no sales charges."

A. — I will send by mail a revised list of "no load" funds which charge no sales cost, but I don't know of any funds "with a guaranteed performance." A mutual fund or closed-end investment company assures nothing except a pro rata share of what is in the portfolio.

Where there are senior securities, the common stock is at the low end of the totem pole. In a sense, bonds are guaranteed. Holders of corporate bonds can take over the property or force a bankruptcy reorganization if there is a default on promises to pay interest and to return principal on the due date. Liens on property by bonds in default are "guaranteed" only to the extent that seizable assets have value.

Incidentally, readers who wish to add periodically to holdings of specific mutual funds are advised to do so on a voluntary basis only and not to commit themselves irrevocably. Where there is a big "front end" commission, there can be abuses. The absence of a "load" or sales premium in a mutual fund is important only when other factors are equal.

Investors can learn about past performance in the fund prospectus, or in such reference books as Wiesenberger's "Investment Companies," "Investment Trusts and Funds" (American Institute of Finance); Kalb Voorhis reports; and in magazines such as Fundscope and Forbes.

Q. — A Waco, Texas reader asks about convertible bonds.

A. — Convertible bonds, unlike stocks, have a maturity date and a fixed obligation to pay income to owners. But, unlike conventional bonds, the convertibles have a kicker in that they can participate in future corporate growth through the option to exchange bonds for a specified number of shares within a given time span at a stipulated price. In bull markets convertible bonds of favored companies rise with the prices of their stocks, and in times of market correction there is a floor under convertibles which have a value as bonds in addition to their speculative feature of convertibility. Investors who are interested in convertibles should contact specialists in this field, such as Scudder & German in New York City.

2. — A sailor overseas asks about the 10% plan on savings.

A. — This is a special privilege for service men, and you should take advantage of it. The U.S. Treasury loses money on the deal, as even at current abnormally high interest rates it can borrow for less in the open market.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

'69 Navigation Season At Omaha Starts March 15

Omaha (AP) — The 1969 Missouri River navigation season is expected to begin at Omaha March 15, the Army Corps of Engineers announced.

Brig. Gen. C. Craig Cannon, division engineer, said the season is expected to begin at Sioux City, Iowa, March 13, Kansas City March 18, and near St. Louis March 23, depending on water level and ice conditions.

Heifers Sell Firm, Higher At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — A generally steady trade kept the fed steer market in check at Omaha Tuesday, although bargaining was considered brisk on a light run. Heifers, meeting a good demand, sold firm to 25 higher.

A slower dressed beef market backgrounded live trading. Steer meet at Chicago reported in on a steady to lower basis early Tuesday, while heifer beef opened unchanged. Resistance was mounting, apparently, as choice steer beef hit 47 cents.

This, coupled with a sizable supply of direct and "ordered-in" cattle here Monday, has effectively prevented an otherwise lively market from advancing much further. Tuesday's direct arrivals, believed by tradesmen to be about equal to Monday's, will not be known until Wednesday.

Cows continued on the upgrade, adding another 25 cents in value in active bargaining.

Beef steer top edge up to $29.35 for two loads of high-choice to prime 1,206 lb. offering.

Heifers peaked at $28.35 for a load choice to prime 997 lb. weights.

Practical top beef cows $18.25, few $18.50-18.75.

Butcher hogs ruled fully steady, sows strong to 25 higher as marketings continued moderate.

Bulk top barrows and gilts $21.50 for 200-240 lb. offerings.

Official Sees No Bad Effect In Pop Music

London (AP) — The British government has turned down a demand for an inquiry into the effects of loud pop music on health.

Richard Crossman, secretary of social services, told Commons: "There is no evidence whatsoever that this music has any serious medical effects by itself."

Near 200 Expected At Schoolmen's Day

Peru (UPI) — Nearly 200 area schoolmen are expected to attend the 17th annual Peru State College schoolmen's day, Saturday.

Mobil Oil Said Sponsoring Nigerian Propaganda Move

New York Times Service

By BENJAMIN WELLES

Washington — The Mobil Oil Corp., a major investor in Nigeria, was reported Tuesday to be sponsoring the visit of a Nigerian government official to try to offset pro-Biafran sentiment in the United States.

A corporation spokesman in New York confirmed that Mobil had sponsored a visit by Joseph Tarka to the U.S. last year for "technical and commercial discussions." However, he added, a check among Mobil officials, made it appear "extremely unlikely" that Tarka's current trip was also being sponsored by Mobil.

Joseph Iyalla, Nigerian ambassador, said any suggestion that Tarka's current visit was under Mobil sponsorship was a "blatant lie" aimed at defaming his country.

The ambassador expressed surprise, however, when he was informed that a Mobil spokesman had confirmed that Tarka's visit last year had been officially sponsored by the American oil concern. He said he "was not aware" of this.

Iyalla described Tarka as Nigeria's "leading Catholic." He said he would address groups throughout the U.S. and that they would "not necessarily be Catholic."

Industry and government sources here, nonetheless, questioned this disclaimer. They asserted that the oil company was, in fact, facilitating the visit here of the federal Nigerian cabinet officer.

Pro-Nigerian

They said the federal military government, headed by Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, had recently begun quietly approaching other U.S. companies with financial interests in Nigeria to solicit the Nixon administration for a more "pro-Nigerian" policy.

The Mobil Oil Corp., with a reported $50 million investment in Nigeria, ranks behind the Gulf Corp. with reportedly $100 million invested there. Total U.S. private investment in Nigeria is said to be close to $300 million. The number of U.S. citizens living in Nigeria is said to total 5,200, of whom 443 are U.S. government employes.

Tarka, commissioner of transportation in the federal Nigerian government, called Tuesday on Joseph Palmer II, assistant secretary of state for African affairs. The visit was officially described as a "courtesy" call.

U.S. industry sources, who asked not to be identified, said the main reason for Tarka's visit to the U.S. at this time was to contact leading figures in the U.S. Catholic hierarchy and leading Catholic laymen in an effort to offset what the Nigerian federal regime regards as a wave of pro-Biafran sentiment now evident in Congress and on the part of the general public.

Sources familiar with Nigeria said that approximately half the prewar population of Biafra — 12 million — was Christian. Of this, they said, the majority was Catholic.

By contrast, they noted, the religious persuasion of the remainder of Nigeria was overwhelmingly Moslem, antimist-pagan and then Christian, in that order.

First National Bank Reports 1968 Good And Eventful Year

First National Bank will launch its BankAmericard program in February with the mailing of the cards to more than 100,000 prospective users in the Lincoln area and other parts of the state, President Burnham Yates said Tuesday at the annual meeting.

In a report to stockholders, Yates described 1968 as a good and very eventful year for the bank.

He noted that net operating earnings were $1,737,115 as compared with $1,516,301 in 1967. Capital funds grew to a total of $15,390,498 at year-end. Deposits totaled nearly $198 million at year-end, including demand deposits of $122,648,434 and savings and time deposits of $75,349,211.

All figures, Yates said, represented all-time high amounts for the year-end reporting date.

Yates described a new random access computer which has been installed in the bank to provide more capacity and flexibility in data processing procedures and the development of pertinent management information.

Late in 1969, he said, bank facilities will be moved to the 20-story First National Bank Building now under construction at 13th and M.

Directors re-elected by shareholders were George P. Abel, Philip M. Aitken, H. J. Amen, C. Wheaton Battey, James W. Bradley, Adna A. Dobson, E. J. Faulkner, J. John Grainger, A. W. Griffin, Warren C. Johnson, Richard O. Joyce, John F Lawlor, Earl T. Luff, Bennett S. Martin, Walter E. Nolte, Carl W. Olson, Edward M. OShea Jr., Dwight C. Perkins, W. W. Putney, Paul C. Schorr Jr., T. A. Movie Actor, Winninger, Dies At 84

Hollywood (UPI) — Funeral arrangements were pending Tuesday for character actor Charles Winninger, the loveable old codger of a host of Hollywood movies.

Winninger, a one time patent medicine pitchman, died Monday at his home in Palm Springs, Calif. He was 84.

Forest Lawn Mortuary in Hollywood Hills was handling funeral arrangements for the plump, white-haired show business veteran, who had been inactive since he broke a hip four years ago.

The actor began his movie career in the 1930s and his credits included "Show Boat," "Three Smart Girls," "Babes in Arms," and "Destry Rides Again."

He was identified with the role of Captain Andy in "Showboat" on the stage and on radio.

Soviets Step Up War Against Flu

Moscow (AP) — An extra 3,000 doctors from research institutions have been brought into Moscow to help fight Hong Kong flu.

Valentina Vadyayeva, deputy chief of the city's health service, said on television Tuesday that one-quarter of Moscow's 6.5 million people have been vaccinated.

Authorities have not disclosed the number down with the sickness.

U.S. Gold Supply Drops $5 Million

Washington (UPI) — The United States gold supply declined by $5 million in December, the first drop in government holdings in nine months, the Treasury Department said Tuesday.

The loss, the smallest change in the past year, puts current U.S. gold holdings at $10,892,000,000.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

We listened to the President and were impressed with his yearning for peace.

These have been warlike years. "Private Willy Nilly reporting as ordered." Hup, two, three, four!

The problem with wars of our time is that we cannot keep them local. We pick up the paper and read: "Experts estimate Red China will be able to deliver nuclear bombs on U.S. targets within five years."

That is an awfully short time. And I am not mad at anybody anyway. What kind of war is that, people?

"Military affairs prosper." That is the morning line from the morning horoscope.

Maybe somebody will hand me a defense contract. We aren't tooled up for much around here — unless the Army is in the market for Siamese cat hair. We could scrape a lot of that off my blue suits.

Nobody has called us to arms. We have three uniformed personnel; a Brownie, a Brownie Leader and a Boy Scout. But nobody under arms. You can't have much better military prosperity than that.

We surely hope the President makes it.

War was a great deal more attractive when I was swinging on a gate and firing toy pistols.

When Grandfather said "The War," he meant the Civil War. Every small town in the U.S. had a green-bronze Civil War soldier leaning on his green-bronze rifle in the town square.

On the base of the monument, it said: "To Our Glorious Dead." Then followed the names.

War was not so warlike because it had been so long ago.

Even my grandfather only knew of it from his Uncle Jim who had been with the Army of the West. He wore a soft felt hat with the Grand Army of the Republic badge on it. GAR.

Grandpa said Uncle Jim said it stood for, "God Almighty, run!"

Grandfather enlisted for the Spanish-American war. His father had gone to the war with Mexico in 1847.

Grandpa said: "They bogged down in the mud in Missouri, and by the time they could get their feet loose, General Scott had taken Mexico City."

They were wars in which soldiers could shoot once, and after that it took a long time to reload.

The Civil War had been a terrible killer. But it was a long time ago. Then came the peaceful years while the nation built railroads into the new lands.

The other day I got out a file of family military records. Most of them are applications for pensions and remark on present ailments "resulting from the hardships of military life."

Uncle Jim was a captain in an Illinois cavalry outfit. Jouncing on a horse had given him a chronic pain in the backside. He mentioned it in his application.

A great great grandfather fought with George Rogers Clark against the Shawnees. He asked for land and got it in Kentucky.

One great uncle was captured on the Raisin [illegible]er. Another was at the b[illegible] of New Orleans. Their w[illegible]ws got pensions and remarked on their husbands' hard times in the Army.

"The hardest part is waiting," Uncle Jim wrote in a letter home. "The beef was moldy again. You could punch your finger through the blankets."

It seems there's been little peace in the family. A good deal of waiting and bad beef, mud and pension applications.

So we were glad to hear the President was for a change, and we wish him well.
